Pease Family To Be Honored At National Holstein Convention

Editor's Note: On June 30, in Rochester, N.Y., the National Holstein Association will be presenting an award for the Distinguished Young Holstein Breeder to Lloyd and Denise Pease, of Pease Farms in Susquehanna County, Pa.

CAROL PEARCE
Bradford Co. Correspondent

SUSQUEHANNA (Susquehanna Co.) — Lloyd and Denise Pease have been partners in Pease Farms with Lloyd's brother and father for nine years. Pease Farms is a Dairy of Distinction, situated on 330 acres, where the family grows corn silage and hay for the 80 registered Holstein cows that they milk. Currently, they obtain 25,501 pounds milk, 896 pounds fat, and 807 pounds protein, and believe the key to top milk production is harvesting quality forage and balancing rations.

The breeding program concentrates on corrective matings, high reliability bulls, and functional type for longevity, with production a priority.

The excellent management and milk production all helped the Peases win the Distinguished Young Holstein Breeder Award, but that wasn't all that set them apart from other applicants. It was the total dedication and involvement with the Holstein breed that made them the winner. Lloyd, Denise, and their two children, Matthew, 10 and Heather, 7, spend a great amount of time promoting the breed.

The whole family is involved with showing registered Holsteins. One of their cows, "Rosemere," was grand champion at 1991 Pennsylvania Fall Champ-

Dairy Industry Summit Consensus: Meeting Was Good Idea

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

YORK (York Co.) — More than 400 people from across the United States, most of whom milk cows on a regular basis, on Monday attended a first-ever dairy industry summit held jointly by U.S. Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., and U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Mike Espy at the York Fairgrounds.

The purpose of the meeting, called by Sen. Leahy, chairman of the Senate Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry Committee, and Secretary Espy, was to involve representatives of all aspects of the dairy industry, especially producers, to find out what common ground may exist for addressing problems with the industry.

The testimony offered during the meeting was recorded and Sen. Leahy said that those who didn't get an opportunity to express themselves fully in the allotted time still have a chance to mail or fax statements to him. After it is compiled, a copy of the transcript is to be given to Espy and he said he will review it more in Washington to consider what kind of consensus may be developed.

The only apparent complete consensus of the meeting was that it was a good idea for the U.S. secretary of agriculture to meet with non-Washington D.C. representatives of the dairy industry, and that more money needs to get into the

Delmarva Broiler/Fryer Market

Wednesday, June 23, 1993

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was slow. Seller offerings were readily available and difficult to place. Live supplies were moderate; weights were mixed in a full range of light to heavy. Processing schedules remained heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 52 to 63 cents; however, several plants were willing to negotiate at lower levels to clear on hand supplies. Trade sentiment was barely steady to weak. In the part complex, supplies were generally adequate for the light and selective demand. Most plants were fairly confident of increased late week movement, particularly on leg quarters.

Northeast Chicken Parts

Wednesday, June 23, 1993

Trucklot buying interest for current deliveries was light and disappointing. Supplies of boneless skinless breasts with tenders were adequate and traded at steady prices; product without tenders ranged close balance to tight and some buying interest for next week needs went unfilled. Line run breasts were irregularly distributed but barely adequate overall. Very little additional product was offered. Shipper asking prices were unchanged but the undertone continued fully steady. All the dark meat items were more than adequate for the light demand. Even wings were slow to clear the marketplace this morning.

CORN ONE TO THREE CENTS HIGHER. SORGHUM TWO TO SEVEN CENTS HIGHER. SOYBEANS FIVE TO NINE CENTS HIGHER. WHEAT TRENDS ALL OVER THE BOARD; NO AREA, KIND, GRADE OR FUTURES EXCHANGE IN THE SAME CHANNEL. WEATHER THE DEMENTIA. LATE MATURING WHEAT THIS YEAR AND RAINS THAT DELAYED HARVEST FACTORS. EXPORT ORDERS KEEP POPPING UP THIS WEEK AND VOLUME BUILDING UP. HOWEVER WHEAT STATE POLITICIANS CRYING FOR MORE EXPORT ENHANCEMENT PROGRAM. PAKISTAN BID FOR SUBSTANTIAL VOLUME THIS WEEK THAT IS NOT ON THE BOOKS YET. MOROCCO A SUBSTANTIAL TENDER. CHINA RECEIVED MOST FAVORED NATION STATUS. RUSSIA FOOD AID DEAL STILL ON HOLD. HARVEST PRESSURE NOT YET IN FULL SWING, BUT MANY PLACES PRICES RUNNING 16 TO 17 PERCENT BELOW A YEAR AGO AND FAR BELOW THE TARGET PRICE OF 4.00. CORN MARKET A LITTLE MORE SANE, BUT HIGHER TRENDS POSTED FOR THE SIXTH CONSECUTIVE DAY. ONE GOOD CORN EXPORT ORDER SHOWED UP THIS WEEK. SOME FARMERS NEVER REALLY FINISHED PLANTING CORN, THEY JUST QUIT AND OR TRYING TO GO TO BEANS. SOME OF THAT GOOD BOTTOM GROUND, ESPECIALLY NORTHERN CORNBELT AREA FLOODED AFTER THE CORN WAS PLANTED. SEVERAL OTHER PLACES RIVERS AND SMALL TRIBUTARIES CONTINUE TO RUN OUT OF BANKS. HOWEVER RAINS MAKE CORN. SOYBEAN PRICES JUMPED ABOUT 40 CENTS IN TWO WEEKS, TOOK A BREATHER ON TUESDAY, BUT OPENED UP WITH ANOTHER VOLLEY HERE WEDNESDAY. SCATTERED SHOWERS, RAINS AND FLOOD JUST KEEP HARASSING SOYBEAN PLANTINGS. GETTING LATE, ESPECIALLY IN THE NORTHERN CORNBELT WHERE THE FLOOD PERSIST. EXPORT ORDERS SHORT THIS WEEK, BUT PHILIPPINES LOOKING FOR MEAL.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

JUNE 28-JULY 4, 1993

FULL BUCK MOON, JULY 3.

AMELIA'S OUTFIT

Amelia Bloomer was a women's rights advocate and publisher and editor of The Lily, America's first periodical edited entirely by a woman. But it was her involvement in the dress reform movement for which she is best remembered. Stating that the hooped skirts of her day were immodest, drafty, and cumbersome, she simply refused to wear the popular fashion. Her preferred costume was a pair of baggy trousers, gathered at the ankles, with a short belted tunic. When she appeared in such an outfit to deliver a Fourth of July address in 1853, she created quite a sensation. Although other feminists of the day soon adopted this style of dress, it was Mrs. Bloomer whose name became forever associated with the pantaloons.

Ever since we wear clothes, we know not one another. – Herbert

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ Remove crayon marks from floors with toothpaste.

EARTHWISE

Much of the destruction of tropical rainforests is due to developed countries' demand for exotic woods like teak and mahogany. The Broadleaf Project in Honduras is teaching local people how to use careful forest management to protect and harvest the forests at the same time The Rainforest Alliance's Smart Wood program is a good source for finding suppliers of these "smart" woods For information write to. Rainforest Alliance, Smart Wood Program, 65 Bleeker Street, 6th Floor, New York, NY 10012

OPINION

Farmers Will Be Losers

More than half of Pennsylvania's manufacturing jobs could become vulnerable if the North American Free Trade Agreement is approved in its present form. A new study by the Washington, D.C. based research group called the Manufacturing Policy Project has estimated that as much as 58% of PA's jobs could be lost. This translates into 349,500 jobs.

The study, "Jobs at Risk", identifies the types of U.S. companies that are most likely to move to Mexico to reduce their operating costs. Labor is cheaper, property is cheaper and environmental as well as labor laws are lax.

American companies are already buying up Mexican farmland with the intent of producing and processing food in Mexico for shipment to the U.S. The Mexican petrochemical industry had always been closed to outside investors, but recent legislative changes have allowed even this to be opened to U.S. industry.

A group of American and Mexican investors called the AmeriMex Maquiladora Fund was created in 1992 for the sole purpose of identifying, buying and relocating companies to Mexico.

Although there is nothing to stop U.S. firms from moving to Mexico now, the provisions contained in NAFTA will open Mexico to more direct investment in such areas as banking, transportation and telecommunications. Once those investments are in place, it opens things up for manufacturing and agricultural interests to move into Mexico and take jobs with them.

"While NAFTA proponents say the agreement would create jobs in the U.S., this study seems to indicate the exact opposite," said Robert Junk, President of the Pennsylvania Farmers Union. A number of companies are already in the process of moving."

Where agriculture is concerned, major food processing companies will expand to Mexico and gain even more control over the market at the expense of farmers here in the U.S.

NAFTA was written by corporations for their own benefit so they can take advantage of cheap Mexican labor and almost non-existent enforcement of labor and environmental laws. Until Mexican standards are brought up to par with ours, the agreement should not become reality. The working class and the farmers in this country will be the losers if it does.

Farm Forum

As I look back on my reign as 1992-93 SUN Area Dairy Princess, I have to say it was a successful year for me to promote Pennsylvania's number one industry, farming. As dairy princess I have met many new people and become friends with area farmers. Representing the farmers at local and state events was a challenging and rewarding experience for me this year.

During my reign I have completed 55 school programs, 31 newspaper articles, 31 radio spots, 17 store and mall promotions, 17 non-farm presentations, 10 farm meetings, and 11 special events. With these programs I have represented the SUN Area at such state events as Ag Progress Days, the State Dairy Princess Pageant, and The Pennsylvania Farm Show.

I would like to thank my family for their support, encouragement, and help. Travelling over 3,634 miles I thank my parents for the use of a vehicle to drive and get to these destinations. I thank the SUN Area Dairy Promotion Committee for all their help in making this year a success. I would also like to thank all the people I met along the way and had the opportunity to share my knowledge with. Your hospitality and attention was greatly appreciated.

I wish the best of luck to Taryn Laidacker, the 1993 SUN Area Dairy Princess. May she have just as great and unforgettable of a year as I have had.

NOW IS THE TIME

To Salute The Egg Industry

Pennsylvania is now second in the nation in egg production. California is still number one, although its production declined from 7.4 billion dozen in 1991 to 7 billion in 1992.

Pennsylvania, Ohio, Texas, Iowa, and Minnesota had increased egg production in 1992 over 1991 levels. Pennsylvania replaced Indiana as the second largest producer. Last year, Pennsylvania produced 5.5 billion eggs or enough eggs to feed 20 million people.

This represents 10,464 eggs (872 dozen) being laid every minute in Pennsylvania. How people are eating eggs is changing. Egg product production is an expanding part of the egg industry. The continued introduction of valued-added products further increase egg product usage.

Shell eggs used in egg products as a share of total consumption increased from 15 percent in 1985 to 23 percent in 1992, or the equivalent of almost 55 eggs per capita. Egg product use is expected to increase to the equivalent of 56 eggs in 1993, 24 percent of total per capita consumption.

To Employ Your Children

If you have been reluctant to hire your children to work on the farm this summer because of tax liability, here is some good news.

You may employ your children in your farming operation and they will pay income tax based on their tax bracket, not yours. You may remember the 1986 tax law contained the so-called "kiddie tax." It required that unearned income (interest and dividends) in excess of $1,000 received by a child under 14 years old be taxed at the maximum marginal rate of the parent. However, earned income is different and your children's pay is considered earned income.

With a $3,600 standard deduction, they may earn that much and owe no taxes. If you provide more than half of the child's support, you may still claim the dependency exemption. You do not have to pay social security tax on your children's earnings if they are under 18 years old.

For more specific details, consult your account or income tax advisor.

To Vaccinate Successfully

The success of a vaccination program may be hindered if cows are vaccinated while under stress.

Cows begin to be stressed when temperatures approach 80 F. Cold temperatures will also stress cattle. Other stress factors include illness, parasitic loads, and poor nutrition.

For best results, avoid vaccinating sick cattle and choose a time when cows are not undergoing temperature stress. If the vaccination program requires a booster shot, be sure to administer it at the proper time.

The booster shot is designed to elevate the cow's response above that of the first shot. If delayed too long, the response of the cow to the booster will only be as great as her response was to the first shot.

Consult your veterinarian for more information or for recommended vaccination programs.

I AM FILLED
June 27, 1993

Background Scripture:
Philippians 4
Devotional Reading:
Romans 5:1-11.

Paul's letter to the church at Philippi is a marvel. Written from jail under the most trying circumstances, Paul seems absolutely overflowing with thanksgiving and joy. No less than eight times, Paul speaks of his joy.

In Philippians 1 he speaks of how his imprisonment is contributing to the proclamation of the gospel, "and in that I rejoice." (1:18). In the very next verse: "Yes, and I shall rejoice." (1:19). In Philippians 2:2, he urges them to "complete my joy by being of the same mind..." A little later, he says, "Even if I am to be poured as a libation upon the sacrificial offering of your faith, I am glad and rejoice with you all" (2:17). Giving instructions for their reception of Paul's representative, Epaphraditus, Paul counsels, "So receive him in the Lord with all joy" (2:29). In Philippians 3:1, he says again, "Finally, my brethren, rejoice in the Lord" and again in 4:4, "rejoice in the Lord always; again I will say Rejoice." And finally, "I rejoice in the Lord greatly that now at length you have revived your concern for me" (4:10).

TO BE CONTENT

How could a man in his circumstances be so joyful? As I said previously, the source of his joy was a different way of looking at life. For one thing, he focused on the good things rather than the bad and he counsels the Philippians to do the same when they are threatened. "Finally, brethren, whatever is true, ...honorable, ...just, ...pure, ...lovely, ...gracious, ...excellence, ...worthy of praise, think about these things" (4:8). Yes, there are a lot of unworthy things in the world, and we are accustomed to occupying our minds with those. But does that help us? Does that make us better? Does that build up faith or bring peace? No, never. So why not concentrate on what has a positive effect upon you instead of that which tears you down? That's what Paul did. Just as some people know about the existence of the good but focus on the bad, Paul knew about the bad but concentrated on the good.

Secondly, as I said when we looked at Philippians 1, Paul did not let the situation determine his state of mind" "...for I have learned, in whatever state I am, to be content. I know how to be abased, and I know how to abound; in any and all circumstances I have learned the secret of facing plenty and hunger, abundance and want." Most of us can feel pretty content when we abound and have plenty. But when we are abased and are in want, that is another matter. So we let our circumstances decide for us if we will feel joy or sorrow. But not Paul. He knew that to feel joy you have to think joy. You have to "think about these things" that are positive and constructive.

A ROW OF BOTTLES

I remember a story about the sickly author, Robert Louis Stevenson. One day, while he was sick in bed, his wife marveled at his cheerfulness and said, "I suppose you're going to tell me this is a good day?" And he replied: "I refuse to let a row of medicine bottles be the circumference of my horizon." Just as Paul looked beyond his prison walls and saw hope, so did Stevenson look beyond his life-long struggle with ill health.

Paul realized that what made the difference in his daily life was not the good or bad things that happened to him. The secret of "facing plenty and hunger, abundance and want," was to be found, not in the circumstances which he could not control, but in what he could — his reliance on Jesus Christ. "I can do all things in him who strengthens me" (4:13). It is not good fortune that makes life worthwhile, winning the lottery, getting a raise, and so on. It is Christ. When we put our dependence upon things, we are disappointed sooner or later when these things wear out or forsake us. Christ alone can sustain us through all of life.

Looking at it this way, we can understand how, even in his circumstances, Paul can say, "I am filled" (4:18).

And so can we.

The turf tractor for people who despise non-performing investments

The Steiner does the work of a dozen different single-purpose machines. Better. All it takes is a few minutes to change attachments and you're ready to mow, move dirt and snow, edge, blow, chip, aerate and more. All as you move effortlessly across your grounds on a 16 or 20 hp machine with an articulating frame and hydrostatic transmission.

The Steiner. The turf tractor for people who believe in value-based investments and hard work. Test drive one for yourself at your local Steiner dealer.

CLAAS offers the world's only folding 6-row corn head. It also fits John Deere and New Holland forage harvesters.

CLAAS of America proudly introduces the world's largest selling forage harvester: the CLAAS® Jaguar 695. Tested and proven worldwide, the Jaguar possesses power and speed, while offering reliability, performance and advanced technology unmatched by the competition.

The heart of the Jaguar is CLAAS's 24-knife, precision engineered cutting cylinder that gives a clean, superior chop. The angled knives draw the crop toward the center, producing a smooth, steady flow through to the discharge chute. The knives' "scissors action chop" ensures a cleaner cut. And all of this is done with minimal power requirements.

An automatic electrohydraulic knife sharpener is standard. The shearbar is easily accessible and quickly adjusted.

CLAAS's field-proven, 4-trac mechanical rear wheel drive carries the Jaguar efficiently through any field condition. This optional 4-trac four wheel drive unit can be engaged on-the-go.

The full visibility cab is air conditioned, heated and soundproofed for operator comfort. A multi-function control lever puts control of all harvesting functions at the operator's fingertips. The world renowned Mercedes 354 hp V8 diesel engine means reliability and economical operation.

An optional corn cracker maximizes feed quality by ensuring a fully digestible harvest. Independent studies show CLAAS's unbeatable corn cracker is nearly 100% effective.

The Jaguar's 6-row corn head is the world's only folding corn head. This unique header comes with "Auto steer" to guide the Jaguar automatically through the rows, assuring ease of operation.

Pickup attachments from 7′ to 14′ are available.

Every Jaguar is backed by CLAAS's commitment to quality in sales, service and parts replacement.

ANIMAL HOUSING EXPO

July 13-14, 1993 Lebanon Fairgrounds

A show for Northeast livestock, dairy and poultry producers

PENNSTATE College of Agricultural Sciences Cooperative Extension

Dairy, livestock, and poultry producers are a significant part of Pennsylvania agriculture. While several farm shows are held throughout the Commonwealth, few concentrate on the needs and issues of animal housing. The demonstrations, speakers, and exhibits at the Animal Housing Expo will focus on proven, state-of-the-art ventilation, feeding, watering, manure handling, and housing systems.

Dairy, livestock and poultry producers may spend as little as a few hundred dollars for renovations or up to several hundred thousand dollars for new facilities to provide adequate housing for their animals. At the Animal Housing Expo, these producers will have an opportunity to investigate available options, talk with industry experts, and select the system and services that best meet their needs.

Certificates promote beef and veal

To address increased beef and veal marketings, the Pennsylvania Beef Council is initiating a beef and veal gift certificate program with the help of cooperating retailers.

Beef and veal certificates are checks written by the Pennsylvania Beef Council, available in denominations of $5, $10 and $25. The certificates are good for one year towards the purchase of any fresh beef or veal product at the grocery store or meat market specified by the certificate purchaser.

The gift certificates are used like a check, and the Pennsylvania Beef Council stands behind each issued certificate.

Hess's BBQ & Catering wins 'Beef Backer' award

People still want beef, just more variety, says Lloyd Hess, co-owner of Hess's Barbecue Shop and Catering, recently named the 1993 Beef Backer by the Pennsylvania Beef Council.

Hess's, owned and managed by Lloyd and Paul Hess, have understood and adjusted to meet consumer needs for the past 15 years.

Hess's, Willow Street, Pa., have expanded from a small butcher shop, initially, to the fourth largest catering service in Pennsylvania, a start to finish beef butchering operation and two barbecue take-out shops.

Lloyd says Hess's recently opened the second barbecue shop because of the increased demand for take-out meals.

Hess's have also noticed an increase in catering; they presently serve between two and three thousand people per week.

Beef constitutes 65% of Hess's sales and their menu features beef ribs, prime rib and chopped sirloin steak.

Although demands are shifting towards catering and take-out, Lloyd says he is proud to own such a diverse business. "We can slaughter your beef for you as well as cook and serve it," says Lloyd.

"The Beef Backer award is our way of thanking Hess's for representing and promoting only the highest standards for beef," says Kelley Shearer, the foodservice coordinator for the Pennsylvania Beef Council. "Hess's has been innovative and aggressive in marketing quality beef products."

Did you know that?

- A recent independent study by an economist from the University of Florida has shown a $5.80 return for every beef checkoff dollar invested.
- Research indicates that 60% of all buying decisions are made within the store. It also shows that POP material increase meat sales by an average of 5%.

Beef education efforts emphasize nutrition

PBC sponsors seminar for medical students

With studies showing an increasing number of adults turning to their physician for nutrition advice, the Pennsylvania Beef Council aimed their educational efforts toward medical students.

In cooperative programs with the Hershey Medical Center and Thomas Jefferson University, the Pennsylvania Beef Council sponsored nutrition and education seminars which showed students and other health professionals how lean beef and veal fit diets of persons who must lower fat and cholesterol intake.

In addition to reaching medical students, the Pennsylvania Beef Council also sponsored an evening "Continuing Medical Education" nutrition program for practicing physicians. More than 200 students, physicians, nurses and dietitions were reached through the conferences.

The success of these initial programs has led the Pennsylvania Beef Council to discuss future cooperative efforts with representatives from medical schools in Pennsylvania.

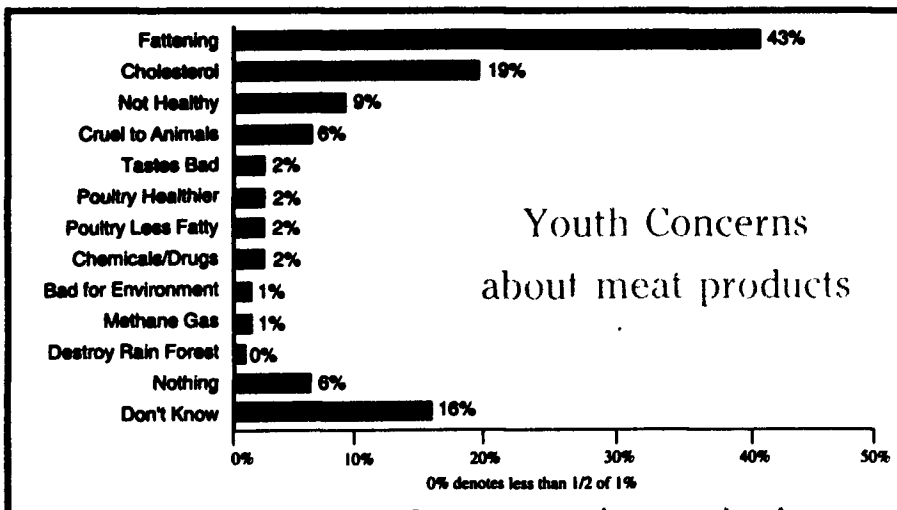
PBC promotes beef to image-conscious teens

Many teenagers view image as everything, unfortunately the image obsession can have serious health repercussions, especially in diet and weight.

In order to combat these potential health problems and help teens attain a healthy diet with a variety of foods, the beef industry has created "Mirror Mirror", an educational resource packet, which is distributed to high school guidance counselors.

The packet emphasizes special meal planning and includes nutrient contents of various meat sandwiches and smart fast-food menu choices.

The Pennsylvania Beef Council and 43 other state beef commissions are distributing 10,000"Mirror Mirror" packets to school guidance counselors.



Panel sets youth promotion priority

A recent four month study released by a select panel of meat and livestock industry representatives has recommended nutrition as the top priority focus for industry-funded youth education programs.

The Youth Initiative Task Force was initiated to set priorities based on message, audience segment and program type for long-term checkoff funded youth programs.

The recommendations were based on data from consumer research and a benchmark survey of attitudes among youth. The national survey, by Bruskin Research, found misinformation and interest in nutrition high, while concern over animal rights issues was minimal and declined with age.

The task force recommended kindergarten through fourth grade as the priority target audience and advised checkoff funded programs to expand beyond just schools, to include youth organizations and publications.

The Youth Initiative study findings will assist in guiding future Pennsylvania Beef Council school education efforts.

NUTRIENT MANAGEMENT: POULTRY MANURE UTILIZATION

Paul H. Patterson
Assistant Professor
Poultry Science

Clean water has been the motivating force behind efforts in Pennsylvania to locate all sources of potential pollution. Industrial sources of pollution, termed "point source" pollution, have been largely located and regulated. "Nonpoint source" pollution coming from less discrete sources has been more difficult to identify and regulate.

Agriculture has been included in the nonpoint source category as a potential contributor and is recognized as such by the Chesapeake Bay Pollution Program. Livestock and poultry manure, if improperly spread on the land, has the potential to contaminate surface and groundwaters.

However, with proper utilization, these by-products of poultry production can provide valuable plant nutrients to Pennsylvania crops and reduce the use of commercial fertilizers.

Now that the state of Pennsylvania has nutrient management legislation, poultry producers will be required to file a nutrient management plan if they have more than 2,000 pounds of poultry liveweight per acre of land. The options for manure utilization are many, but the more practical applications are either as a fertilizer, feed, or fuel.

An old concept with a new application is the use of livestock and poultry wastes as a fuel source. Nomadic people of the world, including the early Mongolians and native North Americans, used dried animal dung from the steppes and prairies to fuel their heating and cooking fires.

Today, these concepts are still alive. Air-dried broiler litter has been explored as a modern fuel source for brooding broiler chicks. Studies have shown chicken manure to have a fuel value (4,400 BTUs/pound) about one third the value of coal (12,800 BTUs/pound) and about two thirds the value of cord wood (6,700 BTUs/pound). In the United Kingdom, a new energy plant designed to burn poultry waste is generating 12.5 megawatts of electricity, enough to meet the needs of 12,500 households.

Other research efforts have shown that animal wastes can be held in tanks where air has been excluded (anaerobic) and digesting bacteria produce a biogas rich in methane. The methane is then burned to drive a steam engine to produce electricity.

Because poultry wastes are rich sources of nutrients for plants, they also have significant feed nutrients for cattle. In fact, a great number of cattle are fed broiler litter as a background roughage feed similar to straw or corn stalks. The microorganisms in a cow's stomach or rumen can utilize the nitrogen and fiber in broiler litter to make proteins and fatty acids that cattle can utilize for growth. The litter is also a rich source of calcium and phosphorus for bones and other metabolic processes.

The feeding value of dried litter is listed in cattle feeding tables to contain 64 percent total digestible nutrients (TDN), 26 percent crude protein (CP), and 18 percent crude fiber (CF). Dried poultry manure contains 54 percent TDN, and 28 and 13 percent CP and CF, respectively. This method of recycling poultry wastes is not utilized to its fullest extent.

The primary value of poultry manure is a source of plant nutrients for growing crops. Preliminary results of a recent study re-evaluating the nutrients found in a ton of poultry manure suggest it is a good source of nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium, and many micro-elements which may be deficient in certain soils. Laying hen manure, on average, contains about 63.6 percent moisture coming out of a deep pit cage layer management and operation of the dairy herd. The farm's 62 registered Holsteins are presently milking an average of 23,584 pounds of milk, 863 pounds of fat and 734 pounds of protein. Corn, oats, alfalfa and other crops are planted in the farm's 300 acres.

The Speers have one son, 17-month-old Tyler. They have been extensively involved in 4-H and FFA activities and Richard is vice president of the Blairs Mills Lions Club. Both are active members of the Upper Tuscarora Presbyterian Church.

Judges for the Maryland-Virginia Young Cooperator contest were Mary Ann Johnson-Bohn, breed consultant, truck farmer and 4-H leader, Carol McComb, a dairy farmer, 4-H leader and educator, and Joe Scott, retired high school principal and vo-ag instructor.

Speaker for the Pennmarva Young Cooperator luncheon was retired Lancaster County Extension Agent Jay Irwin. Irwin was selected to be part of a small group of extension teams that, from June through December, 1991, served on an agriculture-education mission to Poland.

Irwin related his experiences in assisting Polish farmers and agriculture communities to begin establishing cooperatives, as the country evolves from years of communist rule to a more democratic type of government and capitalistic-oriented economy.

He noted that the average size farm at the time of their team's visits was eight acres, often in numerous and scattered parcels. Average monthly income was $150, of which half was spent for food. Dairy herds usually consisted of 2 or 3 cows, with cows milked out in the fields where they were tethered. Milk, unrefrigerated, was set out along the roads in cans to be picked up by horse and wagon for hauling to a central location. Milk was not a commonly-consumed beverage and Irwin remarked on the many, many children he and his wife observed suffering with broken bones.

Young cooperator couples will represent their cooperatives at state and national educational and industry events, including the National Milk Producers Federation annual meeting, National Institute of Cooperative Education and Pennsylvania Cooperative Council's Young Couples Conference.

Stream Bank Fencing Project Reaches Milestone

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

WHITE HORSE (Lancaster Co.) — "Approximately 1,500 head of cattle are now not in the stream," said Dick Duncan, director of the state Soil Conservation Service during a ceremony commemorating the completion of 100 miles of stream bank fencing here at the James E. Kauffman farm.

Last week's ceremony, which included embedding the "golden post" marking a milestone in the cooperative efforts by the Pennsylvania Game Commission and the Department of Environmental Resources (DER), was attended by many representing the associates involved in the "Within Pasture Stream Bank Fencing" program.

The program, according to a release put out by the Game Commission, provides an inexpensive way to improve nutrient management and vastly reduce sediment loading. It transforms "hoof-rodden banks into outstanding wildlife habitat, something sorely lacking along many riparian corridors," according to the Commission.

Fencing restricts cattle acess and grazing, allowing vegetation such as grasses, shrubs, and trees to become established along stream banks. The vegetation acts as a buffer between cultivated fields, pastures, and streams, trapping sediment and pesticides and absorbing excess nutrients before they can enter the water, according to the Commission.

"It's a very simple, basic idea," said Peter S. Duncan, Game Commission executive director. "You are really putting a single strand of wire along the banks of streams in order to keep livestock out of the streams."

Duncan praised the cooperative effort between the public and private sector, where "economics and the environment can come together and both benefit," he said.

He told the various representatives and guests that, as of 1993, 27 of 37 counties are participating in the pasture stream bank fencing program, with more than 300 farms as project participants.

"Stream bank fencing is a very important tool that Pennsylvania is using to restore the quality of the Susquehanna River and the Chesapeake Bay by reducing nutrient and sediment flow into our streams and waterways," said Caren Goltfelty, state DER representative.

"Since 1988, we've been funding this program because we feel so strongly about its ability to impact water quality," she said. "Not many programs can offer so much for so little. To date, we have invested $4,000 for every mile of stream bank fencing — a very small investment for the rewards reaped by the project."

Glotfelty said that by simply keeping livestock out of streams with a low-cost, low-maintenance fence, farmers have seen considerable improvement. "Their herd health improves, the streambank rejuvenates with plant life, wildlife returns to the water's edge, water levels increase, and the overall beauty returns to the area once damaged by livestock . . . these rewards are all accomplished within a very short amount of time."

According to the Commission, limiting livestock access to streams reduces contact with waterborne bacteria and helps reduce the risk of injury. Fencing provides the farmer with control over where cattle graze, leading to a more productive pasture management system.

Glotfelty announced the department's "enhanced plans" for the program, including developing a complementary program to the project.

"Beginning in October, our new program will further increase the amount," she said, to 1,700 miles of stream bank fencing in the state by the year 2000.

George Miller, president of the Game Commission, said, "Wildlife need food cover, they need shelter cover, and they need travel cover," he said. "And certainly this stream bank fencing will provide that."

Last week's ceremony included embedding the "golden post" marking a milestone in the cooperative efforts by the Pennsylvania Game Commission and the Department of Environmental Resources (DER). Noah Wenger (R-Stevens); George Miller, Game Commission president; Peter Duncan, Game Commission executive director; James Kauffman; and Ag Fence representative Leroy Zimmerman.

house. On a dry matter basis, it averages 5.5 percent nitrogen, 8.1 percent P2O5, 4.5 percent K2O, 16.3 percent calcium, and 1.2 percent magnesium. Broiler litter contains about 24.7 percent moisture with 4.4 percent nitrogen, 4.0 percent P2O5, and 2.9 percent K2O on a dry matter basis.

Laying hens tend to be smaller than they were 15 or 20 years ago. They lay more eggs on less feed and consequently produce less manure. Meat type birds are not any smaller today but they are more efficient with a pound of feed, producing less manure per pound of gain than years gone by.

Despite the positive trends in manure utilization and reduced volumes per bird from previous generations, there may come a time when poultry producers will actually manage their birds to minimize manure and nutrient production so as to reduce the load on the environment.

Along these lines, there are strategies to reduce the deposition of nitrogen and phosphorus in poultry manure. Strategies for reducing the nitrogen concentration in poultry manure fall into four main categories, including better feed formulation, lower protein diets, using feed additives, and manure management.

Better feed formulation can include having a better handle on the protein and amino acid concentration of feed ingredients so as not to oversupply dietary protein leading to greater deposition of nitrogen in the manure. Variability of ingredient nutrients can be a problem and push nutritionists to apply a margin of safety to meet the bird's requirements.

This can be a problem with by-product meals such as meat meal and bakery by-products. As an example, the amino acid concentration can vary by as much as 8-45 percent (coefficient of variation) in meat meals supplied by some renderers, whereas others may vary by as little as 2-8 percent. In fact, today we have the ability to actually formulate for the bird's requirements based on true amino acid availability rather than total amino acid concentration, thereby better meeting the bird's requirements and not overfeeding protein and amino acids.

Phase feeding is another technique that can reduce the amount of manure nitrogen. While not new to the poultry industry, this technique of breaking the requirements of growing and laying birds into phases of greater or lesser need for protein and amino acids is now being adopted by the swine industry.

Formulations based on amino acid requirements rather than crude protein can minimize fecal nitrogen by reducing dietary protein. Similarly, feeding synthetic amino acids in place of protein can reduce fecal nitrogen as well. Recent studies by researchers at Cornell University have shown that substitutions of the amino acids methionine, lysine, tryptophan, and isoleucine for as much as 4 percent crude protein significantly reduces protein intake while maintaining egg production and egg weight. Scientists at Georgia have shown that additions of methionine and lysine to layer diets can reduce the protein from 18 to 16 percent and reduce the costs by more than $4/ton. Apparently, these are cost-effective measures that can be adopted today.

Feed additives that have some potential include enzymes such as hemicellulases, beta-glucanases, and others that free up the carbohydrate portion of cereal grains and allow for better digestion and utilization of carbohydrates as well as protein components. This can lead to as much as a 20 percent reduction in fecal volume and nitrogen excretion. Other additives made from the yucca plant can bind ammonia and other noxious gases and prevent their contamination of the air by holding them in the manure for utilization by plants in a fertilizer application.

Lastly, management techniques such as keeping the manure free of water coming from leaking cups or watering systems can reduce gaseous ammonia emissions and prevent leaching of nutrients from the manure. Good ventilation in the manure pit can assist in drying manure and thus better hold nitrogen that might otherwise escape.

Composting manure can allow for the growth of good bacteria and fungi that hold manure nitrogen in a stable form that won't escape as readily as ammonia or leach away from the manure pile. The heat generated during composting (110-140 F) allows for further manure drying. Each of the above procedures will help better manage manure nitrogen, thereby minimizing environmental contamination.

Strategies for minimizing phosphorus levels in manure are numerous, but a major impact can be made by selecting ingredients with the best utilization. Phytate phosphorus found in many cereal grains is a form that is not well absorbed by the bird. The phosphorus in corn and grain sorghum for example are only 19 and 22 percent bioavailable because of the large phytate phosphorus content. Compared with the phosphorus in meat meal and fish meal, which are 81 and almost 100 percent bioavailable, cereals can contribute to manure phosphorus.

Calcium added to the diets of broilers and laying hens as well as the calcium bound in monocalcium and dicalcium phosphates can reduce the utilization of phosphorus and result in passage through the bird's digestive system. For example, the phosphorus in monocalcium phosphate has a biological value of 120-135, whereas dicalcium phosphate is only 95-100 bioavailable. So high

Lancaster DHIA Supervisors All Use Computers Now

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.)—All dairy farmers who are members of Lancaster DHIA now have access to reports generated on test day by lap top computer. According to Jay Mylin, a lot of credit for this advanced service goes to the supervisors who all have picked up on the opportunity to let the computer do some of the work.

For Moses Martin, Ephrata, and his wife Vera, the change was not easy but has become rewarding.

"The first day Moses was ready to change jobs," laughs Vera. "We spent a day and a half getting one herd uploaded. We walked through the program several times with the people at Raleigh, and no one could figure out what was wrong. Finally when we did get the job done, we found that at one point we had used a capital D instead of a lower case d. Since that time it has gone well."

"I was apprehensive about the change to Raleigh," Moses said. "When the directors, our bosses, were talking about the move, Jay Mylin said it was something you would never want to go through in your lifetime again. And I wouldn't want to. I spent a lot of extra time the first months explaining reports to farmers. But it was a good move, and farmers like the additional reports we generated right here. And I like to work with the computer."

Moses and his son Keith each have a circuit, and Vera does a lot of the computer work at home. They think the computer has somewhat increased the workload for the supervisor, but it has also given some efficiencies in short cuts that don't require the supervisor to fill out every detail. Also time in packaging and numbering samples has been reduced. Cow index numbers are supplied to the owner/sampler herds and the farmers put the numbers on the bottles.

Many of Martin's herds are small Amish herds, and taking the lap top to the barn has not been practical from their point of view The time it takes to unhook the computer at the house and set it up in the dairy farmer's barn is not advantageous. By collecting the milk weights on barn charts and keeping the computer at home allows Vera to work records into the computer while the men are out to pick up samples from the farms.

The Martins say that their farmers like the next day reports generated by their lap top computer. And after 36 years on the job, Moses marvels at the change technololgy has brought. During this interview he brought out from the bottom of the desk drawer the old DHIA computation tables that testers used to figure monthly milk production. In the early days the tester did all the figuring of records and transferred the numbers into the owner's record book by hand--quite a contrast from a lap top computer sending information through a modem to a master computer three states away.

Moses started testing milk in 1W service in New Jersey. Later he came back, took a milk testing circuit in southern Lancaster County. After 14 months the circuit around Ephrata opened up, and since Moses and Vera were both from this area, they came back home and have been testing milk here since that time. Keith just recently took on a circuit in the home area too.

For George and Nancy Book, Paradise, another husband/wife milk testing team, the switch to computers was a new way of life too. But they have adjusted well. And like the Martins, most of the 115 herds they service are small, so the lap top computer stays home, and information is fed to Raleigh from the kitchen table.

Both George and Nancy like working with the computer. "I was looking for a reason to get a computer six years ago," George said. "In our DHIA work, I feel I have more control over what goes on."

"Also," Nancy adds, "the program helps eliminate errors because it asks you to fill in any data you may have missed."

The Books have been testing milk for 13 years, the last seven in Lancaster County, after milking cows and testing milk in Juniata County. They enjoy the work.

All the supervisors in Lancaster DHIA enter the information in their computer and send it over the phone line to the dairy records processing center in Raleigh, North Carolina. This allows supervisors to create management reports for the dairyman to make decisions before the reports return from the processing center. The most popular report is the cows by test day milk. This report allows the dairyman to:

1. Change feed charts right after test day to feed amount called for with new milk weights.
2. See at a glance how much each animal deviates from last month's production.
3. Check factors which may have caused deviation--lactation number, days in milk, date due etc.
4. Compare the average production for the herd on test day with the days in milk.

"This is just one sample of the reports our dairy farmers can choose from," Mylin said. "For more information about other reports our supervisors are doing for their farmers, ask your supervisor or call our office at (717) 665-5960. These reports are created as a management tool for you and are produced free as a service to you."

Moses, Keith, and Vera Martin say their Lancaster DHIA farmers like the next-day reports generated on their lap top computer.

George and Nancy Book say their lap top computer helps cut down on errors in their Lancaster DHIA reports.

Pease Family To Be Honored

ionship Show in State College. Matthew, who is in his first year of 4-H, showed his calf "Shannon" to several Jr. Championships, as well as Honorable Mention Jr. All Pennsylvania Fall Calf. Heather was Reserve Jr. Champion with her calf at the county show.

Lloyd and Denise are also involved in many other agricultural and civic organizations.

Lloyd is Executive Commiteee member, and member of the Personnel Committee for the Pennsylvania State Holstein Association. He is also Sale Committee Chairperson for the Susquehanna County Holstein Club.

Denise is a member of the Youth Committee for the Pa. State Holstein Association, along with being the Secretary, and Chairperson of the Youth Committee, and a member of the Sales Committee for the Susquehanna County Holstein Club. She also holds the position of President and Show Chairperson of the Susquehanna County Dairy Leaders.

Lloyd and Denise are both members of the state and National Holstein Associations, and are Chairpersons for Commercial Exhibits for the 1995 National Convention.

The Peases are very heavily involved in 4-H, being Dairy Leaders and coaches for the Susquehanna County Dairy Judging. Their team has been first five times out of the last six contests in Pennsylvania. They have sent three kids to the Nationals in Madison, Wisconsin, and one girl became the highest individual in 1991. Their son Matthew was third overall in the state last year in Dairy Judging, and was second overall in the state this year. The team won the spring contest.

Some of the Peases' other accomplishments include, as members of the Susquehanna County DHIA, they received, the Herd Management Award, 1992, Highest Herd Average for Milk, 1992, and Highest Herd Average for Protein, 1992. They also won the Pennsylvania Holstein Association Young Breeder Award, which made them eligible for the award at the National level.

As for the community responsibilities, Lloyd, Denise and their family are members of the Jackson Baptist Church, being AWANA leaders, and Denise being treasurer for the Church building fund.

Along with all of her other duties, Denise works for Semex, selling semen in seven counties in Northeastern Pennsylvania.

With a list of accomplishments such as this, it is easy to see why Lloyd and Denise won the Distinguished Young Holstein Breeder Award, they are well deserving of it, putting all of their heart into helping children, their community and the Holstein breed.

Beef Council Accepts Program Proposals

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — In preparation for the development of their annual marketing plan, the Pennsylvania Beef Council (PBC) is accepting outside program funding proposals for the Council's 1993-1994 (October 1 - September 30) fiscal year.

Outside funding requests will be reviewed by the Beef Council's Planning Committee, and each proposal will be evaluated on its ability to increase consumer demand for beef and veal products.

The PBC board of directors has established the following topics as program priorities for checkoff funding: retail promotions, food-service promotions, health profession education programs, consumer promotions (stressing convenience and versatility), veal advertising, sports advertising, industry relations (Meat Export Federation and Beef Industry Council membership and issues management activities), and school nutrition education programs.

Parties seeking checkoff funding must submit a completed authorization request form to the PBC office by July 20. Authorization request forms and a more detailed program priority listing may be obtained by calling the Pennsylvania Beef Council office at (717) 545-6000.

- VEGETABLE CROPS

The CHARGE Advantage

CHARGE Liquid Plant Food is a scientifically balanced NPK liquid foliar nutrient, rich in phosphate and containing humus for increased uptake of nutrients.

The 3 Elements of CHARGE 8 • 32 • 5

✓NITROGEN to promote fast growth and abundant foliage
✓PHOSPHATE to encourage seed and root development
✓POTASH which is essential for sugar and starch formation and to increase size and quality of fruit

plus HUMUS, the added benefit for increased nutrient uptake

ALFALFA

Independent research and growers alike have attested to the benefits of CHARGE in increasing the yield on alfalfa. Growers who use CHARGE on their alfalfa have come to expect significant increases in protein level and decreases in Acid Detergent Fiber. CHARGE has been shown to make a difference in the healthy growth of alfalfa, especially during stressful conditions from weather and pests. CHARGE should be applied at 2 to 4 qts. per acre after dormancy and after each cutting when the crop shows 5 to 6 inches of growth. Get the CHARGE advantage!

POTATOES

Optimum time for applying CHARGE is at tuber initiation, followed by applications at mid and late season. Late applications should be combined with NUTRA-K Liquid Potassium to achieve bulking and increase specific gravity before harvest. CHARGE users have achieved bonus payments for potato crops with more potatoes in the desired premium size and for increased weight and yield. Apply 2 to 3 qts. of CHARGE per acre when plants are 4 to 6 inches high. Get the CHARGE advantage!

Dairy Industry Summit

hands of dairy producers.

Industry representatives otherwise were mixed on exactly what should be done to improve the dairy industry and how to proceed.

Other somewhat shared views expressed during the meeting included statements to the effect that producer price stability needs to be built, in order to make the long-term investments in dairy farming a sensible option for business; that there is fragmentation in the dairy industry; that producers and processors don't have a trusting relationship; and that Secretary Espy is quickly becoming well-liked by agriculture — he received several standing ovations during the meeting.

The ovations were made following Espy's remarks on the USDA becoming "farmer friendly," meaning that while abuses wouldn't be condoned, the agency would not conduct business in a bureaucratic, heartless manner.

He said his top priority is to improve farmer income.

As an example of his intent to change the USDA, he said that he has implemented a moratorium on foreclosures on loans in farm loans in order to give farmers "the benefit of the doubt."

Espy said that instead of allowing a foreclosure after three reviews, that he has now opened the option to the producer for a fourth review, in Washington D.C., of the loan, the business and the cash flow.

"We can't throw money down a dry hole ... but we want to do everything we can do ... to give the benefit of the doubt," he told the group in his opening remarks.

Espy also said that he knew that for dairy producers, "Your investments are the highest, the hours are the longest and the standards are the highest."

He also gave a plug for dairy producers to vote on whether to keep the National Dairy Board.

"I strongly urge everyone to vote on this issue," he said. "Even if you're a member of a cooperative and block vote, you still have the right, and I think the obligation, to vote as an individual," he said.

The audience applauded loudly.

He said that producers should pick up a ballot at their local USDA Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office, or call 1-800-858-7501 to have one mailed.

The meeting had actually started prior to Espy showing up. He told the group that a fan belt tore in his USDA van in which he was riding from Washington to York Monday morning and was delayed until a repair could be made.

And in his closing remarks, Espy said that one of the farmers with whom he had talked earlier had suggested an analogy to the vehicle problem Espy experienced, and the situation of the dairy industry. He said that the producers may not be the biggest part of the industry, but, like the fan belt, if it goes bad, the vehicle (the dairy industry) can't run.

Other audience approval of Espy was demonstrated after statements from Leahy and other longtime federal politicians that Espy is the first agricultural secretary to take time to listen and talk to representatives of agriculture, outside of Washington, D.C.

Leahy also commented on

From the left, U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Mike Espy, U.S. Sen. Patrick Leahy, and Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Boyd Wolff listen to dairy industry representatives from across the nation tell of the condition of the industry during a first every national dairy summit at York.

Espy's devoting of an entire day to coming to York to hold the meeting, which is something that Leahy said the previous agriculture secretaries were not known to do.

Leahy said that when he presented the idea of a public townhall type of meeting to gather consensus on the direction of the dairy industry, Espy said yes quickly.

The York location was selected because of access, and because it was recommended by several, escpecially Sen. Harris Wofford, who was unable to attend.

However, of those who did, the majority of testimony requested that some mechanism be used to get more of the consumer dollar to the producer.

Currently, more than 80 percent of all milk sold in the United States is sold through one of 40 federal milk markets.

Pricing of milk under the federal system has historically been a program basically aimed at ensuring an inexpensive food supply by offering producers a guaranteed price per hundred pounds of milk.

In the past, when the support price was high enough to pay for the cost of production, the program inflated the amount of milk available which ensured an abundance and a low price.

In recent years, the federal support price has not kept up with the price of production in most areas, and especially not in areas with additional overhead expenses, such as those areas where farmland is sought for use as sites for residential construction.

Because of the federal government's gradual withdrawl from providing support at a cost-of-production level, the fluctuations of demand for milk, competition from other food and beverage industries, and increasingly higher production costs and investments, the cost of production has increased significantly and widely.

Meanwhile, new market development has been slow or diminished, while the size of herds and dairy output per worker has increase several-fold, and many environmental and operational regulations have been added.

Lancaster Farmers Hold Tax Reassessment Meeting

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The Lancaster County Farmers Association Tuesday night held an informational meeting on a planned county-wide tax reassessment program at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center.

The newer, yet-to-be determined, tax rates are scheduled to go into effect in January 1995, according to officials.

Also, they said that, in the meantime, an estimated 165,000 properties are to be reassessed through a several-stage, multi-agency cooperative effort. Work has already started in organizing the effort. The first step in actual data gathering is to begin July 19 with field personnel gathering property data in the Gap area.

About 175 people attended the Tuesday meeting, including some from out of county and several non-members.

According to Jane Balmer, president of the Lancaster Farmers' Association, the meeting was called primarily so that the county's agricultural landowners, farmers in particular, would have an understanding of the several million dollar reassessment process and why it is being performed.

"To avoid aggravation, it would be good to communicate and that's the point of this meeting," Balmer said.

A panel of county officials presented information on the reassessment, its history, the purpose and reason, and answered questions, as specifically as they could. Balmer moderated the panel and discussion.

On the panel were James Huber and Terry Kauffman, who are county commissioners; Bob Handler, reassessment project director; Leo Gassler, director of the county assessment office; and Phil Raney, appraisal supervisor.

Also on hand for the members of the Lancaster County Farmers Association was Mel Eckhouse, who represents the Pennsylvania Farmers Association to help members understand the reassessment process.

Eckhouse had been involved in generally related reassessment efforts in other counties, most recently Dauphin County, which underwent a change in its interpretation of tax assessments under Act 319, also known as the "Clean and Green Act."

The Lancaster County reassessment had been watched and anticipated by PFA officials, who spoke of it during side conversations at a Dauphin County reassessment meeting, and during telephone interviews.

At the time of the Dauphin County meetings, people had said that agricultural landowners of Lancaster County and perhaps Lebanon and other counties should pay attention to what is going on with reassessments, because it was not a confined problem.

To knowledge, no state or federal agency has specifically issued a statement citing a direct cause-and-effect relationship between changes in municipal profiles and property values over the past 30 years. However, many people have cited an obvious link and blame reassessment problems on the loss of heavy industry and large increases in residential development and speculation buying.

A popular opinion is that during the past quarter century, changes in the state's rural and urban communities have left certain sectors, such as residential and agricultural, paying higher percentages of the taxes received than in previous years, when thriving heavy manufacturing and industrial business property was valuable.

Commercial and industrial properties are assessed on value of the facility and income. According to testimony Tuesday, a number of Lancaster County commercial and industrial properties have had assessed property values lowered substantially.

In the meantime, increasing residential growth has led to an increase in the demand for public services.

In some cases, such as Lancaster County, it has been more than 30 years since a county-wide reassessment was last performed.

Generally, a popular mechanism for maintaining assessment equity has been to adjust assessments when a property owner applies for a building permit to make an addition or change the function of an existing room or building.

The concept is that, as investments are made into a property to increase its market value, then that should reflect an increased ability by the owner to support community services.

Whatever the specific cause for the need to reassess, the state court ordered Lancaster County government to perform the reassessment. The ruling was the result of a lawsuit filed by the city of Lancaster against the county.

According to Huber, "One of the responsibilities (of county governments, as required by state law) is to maintain equity in real estate assessments."

Huber was using "equity" in this case to refer to being unbiased and objective when making assessments, not specifically to refer to financial interest amassed within a property resulting from improvements made that add resale value when the property is sold.

Huber presented a brief chronology of the history of the battle between Lancaster city and county elected officials over instituting a county-wide reassessment.

According to the commissioner, the city desired a reassessment because it was already close to, if not at, the peak millage rate for which it could tax properties to raise funds to cover operating and project expenses.

By current law, a municipal government is restricted in the manner by which it can raise funds and property taxes are generally the most widely permitted. The property tax, is in effect, a type of fee for local services.

While it is generally believed that property taxes were initially implemented because they provided a natural sliding scale that reflected ability to pay, a widespread call for local tax reform which would depend less on real estate values and more on income has resulted in a pending proposal now before the Senate (Senate Bill 182).

(Editor's Note: Please see our report on SB 182 next week.)

Huber said that the city wanted the reassessment because of its own problems with property values, not because of disatisfactions outside of the city, but that the state supreme court ruled that under the law, Lancaster must undergo a county-wide reassessment.

In 1980, the League of Women Voters, the Lancaster Chamber of Commerce and the school districts questioned the equity in the property tax assessments, Huber said.

In 1984, action was started to investigate the reassessments and six public meetings were held to assess the need for a reassessment, Huber said. The conclusion, according to the commissioner, was that it was not necessary.

In fact, Huber said that Lancaster County, at that time, had been rated as one of the "top six or seven counties in equity of assessments."

He said the commissioners elected to continue the practice of updating the value of properties through the existing mechanisms which initiate a property reassessment, but are being forced by the court decision to carry out the action.

Huber told the farmer association meeting audience that he had looked at other counties which had undergone reassessments and saw worse disparity than before.

"At the time, the commissioners favored agriculture. The commissioners were concerned about the No. 1 industry in the county, agriculture, and the effect (of a reassessment) to that," he said.

He said he is "looking foward to tax reform" so local government can "move away from taxation of farmers."

Commissioner Kauffman also got a chance to address the crowd and said he wanted to review the court decision which lead to the reassessment, and how the decision was made to proceed.

The Lancaster County reassessment program is going to be different than most, because several activities are to be coordinated in order to reduce the interuptions, and the cost of duplication of effort, to residents, according to Kauffman.

Several years ago, all county emergency management agencies were asked to document existing fire and chemical storage areas, potential accident areas and emergency response equipment, such as fire fighting hydrants within their areas of responsibility.

That, more or less, became part of an "enhanced 911 system" as the state Legislature called for in 1991.

The county-wide reassessment also is to be performed in conjunction with other projects of data gathering, which will be used to better determine values during the reassessment and is to be carried out by Automated Valuation Services, of Ebensburg.

While the intent of the meeting was to provide an understand of the court order, the projects involved with the reassessment, the Clean and Green Act, and an overview of the timetable, Handler attempted to field specific ques-levels of calcium in a layer diet (3.5-4.25 percent) contribute to poorer phosphorus retention by the hen.

Poultry Pointers

Birds with a dietary deficiency in vitamin D do not utilize phosphorus well, and a new study from Georgia suggests the active form of vitamin D (found in the bird's body) is even more effective than the precursor form of vitamin D normally supplied in poultry diets. These studies showed that the addition of 1,25 dihydroxy form of vitamin D to feed reduced phytate phosphorus excretion by 35 percent and improved total phosphorus retention by more than 20 percent.

Phytase enzymes can also be added to the diets of birds that contain high levels of the less available phytate phosphorus. At the level of 1,000 enzyme units per kilogram of diet, one can expect at least a 10 percent improvement in phosphorus retention and 10 percent reduction in phytate excretion into the manure.

In the future, recycling of the phosphorus excreted by laying hens may be a practice with greater acceptance. Workers at Auburn University have shown experimentally that the mineral components in poultry waste, when allowed to settle in special lagoons, can be reclaimed as calcium/phosphorus sources and re-fed to hens (30 percent calcium and 0.9 percent phosphorus). Feeding levels of 2.5, 3.25, and 4.0 percent in the diet resulted in egg production, feed consumption, and egg weight equal to birds fed traditional mineral sources.

The new nutrient management legislation in Pennsylvania will call for research to look at the impact of gaseous emissions from animal agriculture on water quality. Farmers in the Netherlands have been issued a mandate to reduce ammonia emissions by 50 percent by the year 1995, citing acid rain as a motivating factor. If this kind of legislation were enacted in the United States, all of the above techniques could be brought to bear in managing the nutrients from poultry production.

Dairy Industry Summit

increased the milk-producing efficiency of dairy workers so as to eliminate a lot of need for labor.

The result is the current situation where more milk is produced every year by fewer cows and fewer people.

At apparent odds with the growth of the dairy industry is the traditional single family farm, which requires more labor and overhead costs than larger, multifamilial operations using state of the art facilities and which may produce a million gallons of milk per year per worker.

The day-long summit was divided into a morning and afternoon session with two different panels of "discussants" and "presenters."

The forum was set so that, in turn, each presenter was allowed time to provide information and a position about the dairy industry.

Immediately following, a panel of people representing various segments of the industry were to openly discuss the information and positions presented.

However, in several cases, that did not bring about open discussion of an idea or concept, but an unrelated statement concerning another issue.

Most of the testimony was in favor of the federal government changing its federal order management system of the milk supply ensure a tighter correlation between supply and demand.

Generally, comments were to create a "level playing field" for milk production, especially with international competition, but also within the United States.

Some specific concerns were directed toward a proposed North American Free Trade Agreement with Mexico and Canada (NAFTA), which proponents say will provide a market for U.S. dairy products because that country's dairy sector is underdeveloped.

However, some suspect that investors world wide would quickly build large dairies and perhaps even relocate to Mexico because of a lack of regulations and fees associated with doing business, and then compete in the U.S. market. Many food processors do not require whole fuild milk, which has some distribution restrictions and higher costs associated than dried or concentrated milk and milk component products.

Also receiving attention is the several-year-old Uruguay Round of talks that is supposed to lead to an international trading agreement under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT).

Agricultural subsidies have been a major stumbling block and so has a controversial Section 22, which would give the U.S. the ability to impose retalitory actions against trading partners found to be dumping in order to break into markets, etc.

Espy talked about the use of U.S. export subsidy programs, such as DEIP (Dairy Export Incentive Program), which can help the U.S. develop foreign markets for agricultural products.

Fewer than a quarter of those attending Monday's national dairy summit were members of the National Farmers Union, but their presense was obvious — they wore buttons which stated support for a two-tiered federal milk pricing system, they held cardboard signs stating support for the pricing system, they testified for the system and when someone presented an idea that was not in line with theirs, they booed or activated mechanical pocket devices which sounded off cow sounds.

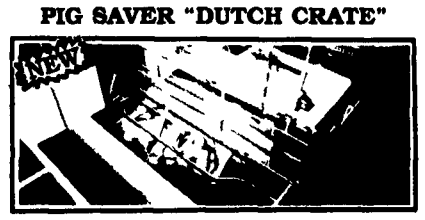
PIG SAVER "DUTCH CRATE"



Dutch Farrowing Crate is another product developed through testing in our research farms. The goal was to develop a crate that nearly eliminates crushing, due to lay ons, unmatched durability and be easy to work around. All this has been achieved by a unique gravity fliprail that forces sows to lie down slowly and using stainless steel for rear doors and legs, proven horizontal and solid steel rod construction. All this at a reasonable cost. Crate also can be installed on an angle.

CONFINEMENT STALL

Horizontal Confinement Stall was developed recently in our R&D farm. Our goals were convenience, safety and durability. The low back and flat top rails are easy to reach over with no sharp edges. Stainless steel rear legs and front feet along with solid steel horizontal rods through punched uprights provide the strongest, most durable stall ever produced by Tri-County (available in 21"-24" O.C. x86").

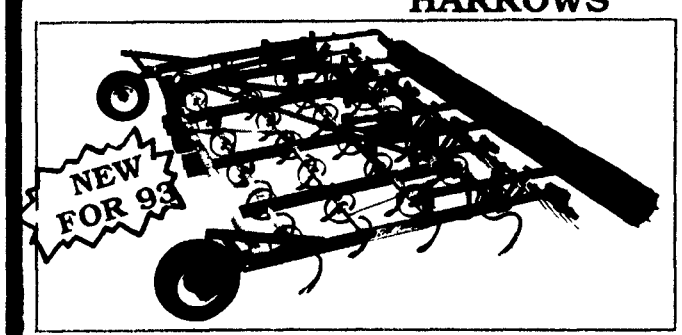
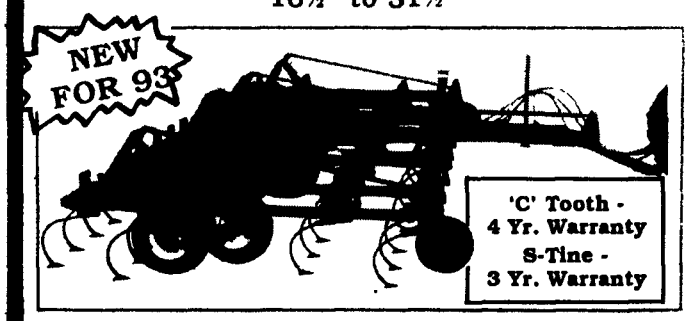
Brillion 3 PT. BASKET HARROWS



Brillion has designed a 3 pt. S-Tine field cultivator with a larger, aggressively angled 12" diameter rolling basket, a 4-bar frame that allows for either 4" or 6" tooth spacing and an adjustable leveler bar in 12', 15' and 18' sizes. The distance between the four bars has been increased for the best trash flow in the industry. Gauge wheels are optional.

HFC FIELD CULTIVATOR
16½' to 31½'



The "heart" of any field cultivator is the shank pivot point. A "bulked up" shank bracket made of cast ductile iron instead of the usual formed steel bracket, incorporated a hardened steel bushing AND a zerk grease fitting to lubricate the pivot point to reduce wear. The result is thousands of acres of extended life of the shanks.

Many Farmers Made Hay

Many areas received nice rain showers early this week and by mid-week the cool dry breeze from the west induced most farmers to cut alfalfa and other grasses for hay. In the photo, Jesse King moves alfalfa into another windrow to help in the drying process. Everett Newswanger, managing editor, found this harvest scene Wednesday afternoon at the corner of Groffdale and West Newport Roads just north of Intercourse along Route 772.

tions which were asked about individual properties.

Several people appeared unsatisfied with Handler's responses, however, he explained that until all the other data was in, and until all the data for each specific property could be recorded and visually checked and compared, that specific information about individual properties could not be known.

Once all the data is entered onto the computer, a computer model is to be developed and tested which will be used to arrive at assessed values.

The new taxing rates will be mailed to each property owner in "impact statements."

number of different states had identical devices and buttons.

Particularly, those with the cow devices used them almost entirely through the presentations of Clyde Rutherford, president of Dairylea Cooperative, based in Syracuse, N.Y., and Mike Donovan, general manager for Easter Milk Producers.

Those two talked about expanding markets and for a program which would use the assessments now collected by the government for budget deficit reduction to buy, store and sell surplus dairy products in an effort to create a tight supply-demand balance and stable gate milk price.

The NFU, however, is pushing for a two-tiered pricing system, with federal support provided for an established production level and a much lower price for milk made at higher levels.

The support price would be based on the price of production, which, according to data provided during the meeting, ranges from just more than $11 per hundred pounds of milk to more than $18.

With the current milk price just more than $15 for Class I, and Class I use at less than 50 percent, the price received at the farm, subtracting assessments for promotion and budget deficit reduction, the statistics indicated that a large portion of producers are selling milk at break-even or under cost of production.

Also, the profitability situation for many dairy farmers may be worse than previously indicated.

According to Secretary Espy, the previous administration's calcuations for average producer annual income were inflated. He recently released figures that the average is $5,500.

Marci Harnish Reigns As Lancaster Dairy Princess

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Marci Harnish reigns as Lancaster County Dairy Princess. She and two alternates, Jesslyn Oberholtzer and Sherrie Bollinger, will promote dairy products in the county that ranks first in milk production in Pennsylvania and fourth in the nation.

At the pageant, held on June 19 at the Farm and Home Center, the three contestants performed a skit and answered an impromptu question before the audience after individual interviews with the judges.

Marci is no novice when it comes to promoting dairy products.

As part of her promotional skit during the pageant, she hosted the Marci Darcy Talk Show, where such famous guests as Denny Moo and Barbara Bovine appear. But at Saturday night's pageant, Katy Cow appeared to tell about her ancestors who had arrived in Jamestown, Va. in 1611 to began the long tradition of providing good tasting nutrition to the inhabitants of the U.S. Marci, who with a switch of clothing, portrayed both talk show host and Katy the cow, told the audience of the need to use Real seal genuine dairy products and not imitation.

When competition came to answering the impromptu question posed by master of ceremonies Grover C. Gouker Jr., Marci answered with unhesitating poise. The following question was asked of each contestant: What quality would you try to instill in children that would be most helpful in life?

Marci answered that she thinks morals and values are the most beneficial values to instill in children. She is dismayed by what she called the biggest decline in morals in the U.S. The ruin of a nation starts in the home, she said.

Marci is a senior at Manheim Central High School, where she is president of FFA. She is also president of the county FFA organization. She has participated in the school musical. Next week, she will attend the Pennsylvania Co-op Council for four days and she received a scholarship to attend the FFA Leadership Conference held in Washington D.C.

Marci helps milk 50 cows on the dairy farm owned by her parents Bob and Marti Harnish. She has an older brother Greg and a 14-year-old sister Kristen.

After high school, Marci plans to study agri-business at Penn State.

Alternates Jesslyn Oberholtzer of Elizabethtown and Sherri Bollinger of Quarryville are eager to promote the product produced on their family farms.

Jesslyn, the daughter of Clair and Laverne Oberholtzer of Elizabethtown, told the audience of the many animals around the world that supply milk. Of milk's many nutrients, its 3.8 percent fat is often viewed as ugly but it has many important functions, she reminded the audience.

Jesslyn believes the most important quality to instill in children is friendship as it is important that people learn to get along despite their differences.

Sherri Bollinger, daughter of Dale and Cindy Bollinger of Quarryville, portrayed a growing female and the value that dairy products provide through the stages of infant, child, teenager, adult, and pregnant woman.

Sherri believes the value most important to instill in children is confidence in self. If confidence is instilled in the beginning, life becomes a smooth adventure, she said.

Judges Joy Crouthers, Dr. David Morrow, and Linda Morrow conducted interviews, and judged the presentation, and answers to impromptu questions in order to determine the winner of the contest.

Outgoing Dairy Princess Jill Harnish finished her reign by answering letters addressed to her "Dear Jillian" advice column. She included slides of her past activities that included promotions in 72 schools, 16 groceries, 18 radio spots, and 12 non-farm events. With outgoing alternate dairy princess Heather Becker, Jill traveled 12,000 miles and made 250 telephone calls.

Commissioner James Huber attended the pageant to present a milk toast in honor of the dairy industry and the county commissioners' proclamation that June is Dairy Month.

Dairy Darlings were chosen to assist the princess and alternates in milk promotion. The Dairy Darlings are Laurie Miller, daughter of Donnie and Linda Miller; Shannon Benner, daughter of Herb and Melba Benner; Corrie Martin, daughter of Leonard and Joyce Martin; Kelli Aaron, daughter of Tom and Sue Aaron; Andrea Hershey, daughter of Steve and Brenda Hershey; and Sherry Rineer, daughter of Rick and Linda Rineer.

Outgoing Dairy Darlings recognized for their contribution to milk promotion included Lisa Blank, Jill Hoover, Becky Young, and Elizabeth Young.

Winners of the coloring contest are as follows:

Five-year-olds: 1. Kimberly Myer, 2. Emily Reed, 3. Katy Grove.

Six-year-olds: 1. Melissa Bower, 2. Meagan Gram, 3. Amanda Stoltzfus.

Lancaster County Dairy Princess Marci Harnish begins reign.

Rain resulted in the planned outdoor reception being moved inside the Farm and Home Center before the pageant. After the pageant, an ice cream sundae bar was served.

These three will promote milk in the county that ranks number 1 in milk production in Pennsylvania, and the fourth in the nation. From left are Alternate Jesslyn Oberholtzer, Dairy Princess Marci Harnish, center, and Alternate Sherri Bollinger.

The family of Dairy Princess Marci includes parents, Bob and Marti, Kristen, and Greg.

Final Dairy Drawing Recipes

BAKED CHEESE CAKE

¾ cup graham cracker crumbs
½ cup sugar
¼ cup butter, melted
2 eggs
16-ounces cream cheese
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sugar
1 can pie filling, any flavor

Combine graham cracker crumbs, ½ cup sugar and butter. Pat crumbs in bottom and sides of large pie plate. Beat 2 eggs and cream cheese. Whip until smooth, add vanilla and 1 cup sugar. Mix and pour on top of crust. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes. Cool 1 hour. Cover with pie filling.

This cheesecake tastes like bought ones. I make it for my mother who loves cheesecake. We live on a small farm, which is mostly in alfalfa. My husband also holds a job so he's a busy man during the summer. We have 2 sons, Joshua Anthony, 4, and Jonathan Clare, 10 months.

I'm looking forward to all the recipes. I like to cook.

BUTTERMILK PIE

1 unbaked 9-inch pie shell
½ cup butter, softened
1½ cups sugar
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
3 eggs, well beaten
1 cup buttermilk
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Dash salt
Nutmeg, grated

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Set out pie shell. Place the softened butter in a large mixer bowl. Add sugar and cream well. Add flour, eggs, buttermilk, lemon juice, vanilla, and salt; mix. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Sprinkle nutmeg lightly over the top. Bake for 1 hour or until the top is golden brown. Serves 6.

My family really enjoys the pie — it's different, sweet, and substantial. My children, J.R., 8, and Kelly, 3, like it plain, but my husband, John, loves it with whipped topping.

Terry Brossman

To make this Cookie and Ice Cream Pie, combine 10 cream-filled chocolate sandwich cookies, finely crushed, and 3 tablespoons melted butter. Press into 9-inch pie plate. Spade 1-quart ice cream on top and drizzle with another ¼ cup fudge topping. Freeze several hours or overnight. Let pie stand at room temperature for 15 minutes before serving. Garnish with fresh whole raspberries.

Featured Recipe

The recipes of the finalists of the 40th Natinoal Chicken Cooking Contest, held in May 1993 in Richmond, Virginia, are now available in a new edition of The Chicken Cookbook. All have been judged by a panel of national food experts on taste, appearance, simplicity and appeal. Only one is chosen to win the Cook-Off's $25,000 first prize; four runners-up share $11,000 in prizes.

The Chicken Cookbook is a handy paperback, complete with a section of colorful photographs of featured chicken recipes. It includes recipes from the host state of Virginia as well as chicken recipes for celebrating holidays, special chicken salads, low-calorie chicken dishes and a selection of $10,000 recipes from four decades of previous Contests.

The cookbook also includes a wealth of time-tested reference information from the National Broiler Council. Lessons in basic chicken cookery, guides for buying and handling chicken and nutrition data can help even an inexperienced cook put a healthy, perfectly cooked chicken dinner on the table in a matter of minutes. There is also information on how to enter the 41st National Chicken Cooking Contest in Atlanta, Georgia, in the spring of 1995.

Published by Dell Books and the National Broiler Council, The Chicken Cookbook can be ordered at the special price of $1.75 (including postage) by sending check or money order (no cash) to: Chicken Cookbook, Department NBC, Box 307, Coventry, CT 06238.

CARIBBEAN CHICKEN DRUMS

8 broiler-fryer chicken drumsticks
2 tablespoons oil
1 can (14-½ oz.) whole peeled tomatoes, cut in chunks
1 can (4 oz.) diced green chilies
1 tablespoon brown sugar
¼ teaspoon ground allspice
¼ cup mango chutney, chopped
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice

Bring to a boil, cover, reduce heat to low temperature and cook 20 minutes. Add mango chutney, lemon juice and raisins. Cover and cook about 15 minutes or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease. Remove chicken to serving platter. Skim off fat from sauce. Add banana to mixture in frypan; heat thoroughly. Spoon fruit and a little sauce over chicken. Garnish with mango slices. Place remaining sauce in separate dish and pass. Makes 4 servings.

I am a dairy farm wife who has been involved in dairy promotion as the mother of two county dairy princesses. With the public becoming very cautious of their weight, we adapted a favorite punch recipe that Nancy used when she was York County Dairy Princess in 1982. It is a low calorie version that we used when our daughter Susan was 1988-89 York County Dairy Princess.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

There was no sound, no noise, no indication.

Just this . . . sogginess.

Last time I'd reached in under the bathroom sink, the storage space in the cabinet had been dry. So were the mundane household supplies kept handy there - the scouring powder and cleaning rags and scrubbing sponges, the paper towels and boxes of tissues and cakes of soap.

Now the cleaning rags dripped water. Tissue boxes collapsed, damp and limp. Sponges were - well, spongy.

"We have a leak," I muttered to the cat, who waltzed off to curl up in the dry softness of the beanbag chair, while I began removing soggy items from this suddenly-damp part of the house. Quick investigation pinpointed the leak, a misty spray from the cold water pipe.

"We have a leak," I told The Farmer at lunch. Having fallen over the items I'd removed from the swampy area, he already had a hint that something was wrong. And with his years of expertise in repairs of all sorts, big and small, wet and dry, greasy and otherwise, he immediately addressed the problem.

The clothespin clamped on the leak proved effective, a successful emergency "make-do" until he could get to the hardware store. With brisk wind blowing, bright sunshine and lots of hay still to be harvested, the proper part would be a clothespin so long as it worked.

Even with the cabinet doors propped open to encourage air circulation, the seasonal cool, darkness of our old house nestled under thick, shady trees offered poor drying conditions. When the scent of mildew became thick, The Farmer hauled a window fan down from the attic to hurry up the drying.

Two mornings later, I plopped a load of dirty jeans in the washing machine and headed for calf barn chores. On a return trip about 20 minutes later, the loud sound of a waterfall sent me running to the basement where a half-inch of water covered the concrete and ran in a neat little stream out across the carpet.

The cold water hose hookup to the washing machine had blown out, spraying the laundry room, washing down the side of the furnace and dampening a large box of powdered detergent before streaming out across the carpet in the adjoining family are and on out the door. (There are times when old houses with leaning floors - especially leaning toward the doors - have distinct advantages.)

This time, The Farmer promptly visited the hardware store, replacing both cold and hot water washing machine hookups, plus getting a part for the bathroom sink. After mop-up, removal of damp shoes and hanging out damp scatter rugs, the larger carpet was propped up to hasten drying. The basement of the old house is even more damp and humid than the first floor and would take forever to dry. I could smell the mildew starting.

Down another floor came the window fan, set up this time by the basement door. It stirred a breeze blowing through two floors of the house — water-cooled, you might say.

The basement carpet was nearly dry when I again reached under the bathroom sink - and found a rerun of sogginess. There had been two choices of a part for the repair - the one we had was the wrong one. And the clothespin was beginning to fail.

Several acres of hay remained to be harvested — while the brisk wind and bright sunshine remained. Threats of clouds and showers hastened haymaking urgency.

The fan is back in front of the bathroom sink. Basement rugs remain a bit damp around the edges. We are still immersed in the fragrance of Eau de Mildew.

And the clothespin supply is running dangerously low.

Youngsters Age 12 Or Under Can Win Truck

(NAPS) — By sending in a color drawing of a rescue vehicle, your child can win such a truck, not to keep in your driveway, but as a gift to local firefighters to help protect your community.

It's all part of the "Win This Fabulous Rescue Truck For Your Town" Sweepstakes, co-sponsored by Emergency One (E-One) and Navistar International Transportation Corp.

"This contest is designed to assist local fire departments in their ongoing efforts to promote safety practices among young children," says Jim Schwaller, vice president, sales and marketing for Emergency One. "While there can be only one winner of the rescue truck, all the children who participate are the real winners through their heightened awareness of safety practices."

The sweepstakes promotion invites youngsters 12 years and under (as of July 1, 1993) to enter the contest by coloring-in a drawing of the giveaway rescue vehicle. Children can enter as many times as they wish. The sweepstakes' prize vehicle is an Emergency One rescue truck mounted on an International 4900 four-door crew cab chassis with a retail value of $169.00. Entry forms ask children to designate the name of the fire department they want the rescue truck to go to if their name is drawn.

The winning child will receive a VIP ride on the grand prize rescue truck on its way to the youngster's hometown fire station. In addition, the winner and his or her parents will receive an all-expense-paid, three-day, two-night trip to Dallas, Texas. There, the winner will present the promotion rescue truck to his or her local fire chief at the 1993 Fire Rescue International Conference, August 29 to 31, 1993.

In 1992, more than 400,000 contest entries were received. More than 6,000 fire chiefs and officers were in attendance when six-year-old Karen Chandler of Sebastopol, California, presented a rescue vehicle to her hometown fire chief, John Zanzi.

Complete rules and entry forms are available from participating Emergency One and/or International Truck dealers, or by writing E-One: "Rescue Truck For Your Hometown" Sweepstakes, 6105 Factory Road, Crystal Lake, IL 60014. All entries must be postmarked no later than July 9, 1993.

I live on a dairy farm near Somerset with my husband, Kurt, and 3-year-old son Daniel.

I think it's important to show people what farm life is really like.

We have 175 school children planning on coming to visit our farm to learn a little of what it's all about. It's something I feel farm families need to do so non-farm folks understand where we are coming from in relating to politics, laws, etc.

SUN Area Chooses Dairy Princess

MILTON (Montour Co.) — Taryn Laidacker of Montour County is the new SUN area Dairy Princess. Sun area includes Snyder, Union, Northumberland County.

Taryn is the daughter of Walter and Alice Laidacker of Milton. She received her crown from Michelle Dugan, Watsontown. Her alternate Dairy Princess is Becky Dugan, daughter of George and Barbara Dugan of Watsontown, Northumberland County.

The Sun area Dairy Princess Pageant was held Saturday evening June 12, at the Susquehanna Valley Mall, Selinsgrove, at 7:00 p.m.

The Boscov Store in the Susquehanna Valley Mall, sponsored the Dairy Days along with the help of the SUN Area Dairy Promotion Committee.

The 19th Annual Dairy Salute was filled with fun and excitement for all ages. On Thursday, June 10, K.J. Riemensynder-Wagner, a local singer/songwriter entertained on the Boscov Mall Stage.

Friday evening, June 11, at 6:00 p.m., a seven-foot-tall giant ice cream sundae was built on the mall stage. Turkey Hill Dairies of Conestoga, furnished 138 gallons of ice cream, 10 gallons of chocolate sauce, 25 pounds of pecans and 5 gallons of strawberries. Contestants, Dairy Maids, and the SUN Area Promotion Committee dipped and served the public free ice cream sundaes. More than 2,000 sundaes were served.

Saturday, June 12, began with a Dairy Petting Zoo area in the front of the Boscov Store, under a tent. All dairy breeds were represented. The calves were provided by area 4-H Clubs. They were a striking contrast to the "Turkey Hill Giant Cow". At 3:00 p.m. a celebrity milking contest was held with 10 contestants competing against each other.

The 19th annual Dairy Princess Pageant began with Todd Stewart, W.I.L.Q. radio announcer serving as Master of Ceremonies. This year four Dairy Maids from Snyder County introduced and participated in the Fashion Review. The fashions were provided by the Boscov Store. The Dairy Maids are Crystal Doak, Shannon Hoffman, Amy Newman, and Denise Myer. Karen Auker a singer from Drums, provided the music for the evening.

Phil Durst introduced the winners of the Dairy of Distinction Award. They were Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Fisher, Selinsgrove; and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blank from Paxtonville.

SUN Area chose Taryn Laidacker, right, as Montour County Dairy Princess and Becky Dugan as alternate.

Children Learn About Farming At PAWS Dairy Barn

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

MOUNT LAUREL, N.J. — Many children who do not grow up on a farm do not know where their food comes from. They think it comes from the store. It's true that all kinds of food can be purchased at the store, but before it gets to the store, it comes from the farm. Many children do not understand this.

To help children understand that milk comes from cows and so does ice cream, yogurt, and cheese, a different kind of a farm, called PAWS Farm, is a place for children to visit. The farm is located in Mount Laurel, N.J.

Many years ago, it was a regular working farm with cows in the barn. Then it became PAWS Farm Nature Center. PAWS stands for the Preservation and Wildlife Society. Recently PAWS renovated the barn to tell the story of a real farm.

In the barn, a mannequin farmer milks a large fiberglass Holstein cow. Children who visit the barn are given a puzzle. In different parts of the barn, they receive a puzzle piece that fits in the puzzle. For example, at one station, the children receive a small milk bottle that fits in the puzzle. This helps them understand the different food groups.

This continues in areas that teach them about chickens, eggs, fruits, grains, and many more products.

One of the most fun parts for children is that they can go grocery shopping in the "Moo"-tricious Store. The children fill their grocery carts with food cartons from the different food groups. They even have "PAWS money to pay for the food.

They can drive a delivery truck, take corn off the stalk, and watch vegetables grow.

A visitor at PAWS Farm nuzzles Dory, the Dorset sheep.

Sheep shearing demonstrations take off the wooly coats of the sheep.

You can learn what Howdy Doody likes to eat and other characters like the Lone Ranger.

There are real farm animals such as chicks, sheep, rabbits, horses, cats, and dogs.

Jan Stanton, executive director for Dairy Council, helped set up the learning barn. She said that children who visit the barn are more likely to eat their food when they know where it's coming from.

Some other things children like to do at the farm include seeing wildlife such as deer, mallard ducklings, an owl, and other birds and animals from the forest.

PAWS is open Wednesday through Sunday year-round, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Admission is $1.25. Special events are often planned. To learn more about PAWS, located at 1105 Hainesport-Mt.Laurel Rd., call (609) 778-8795.

Tugger, a Golden Retriever, greets a visitor at PAWS.

Micah Horton fills up his cart with dairy products in the pretend "Moo"-Trition Market.

Milk promotion knows no age or county boundries. These relatives from Chester and from Lancaster counties gathered at the Lancaster pageant where Patty Longenecker, front, receives recognition for her first-place win in the Coloring Contest. Her aunt Charlene Rohrer Ranck from Chester County was the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess in 1981. Her grandmother Vera Rohrer is chairman of Chester County Dairy Promotion, and her grandfather Elvin is a farmer.

Pa. Dairy Princess Draws Names For Contest Winners

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — The time has come to announce the winners of Lancaster Farming's Dairy Recipe Drawing. This is a bittersweet time. It's wonderful to tell those who won the prizes, but difficult that we don't have a prize for everyone because so many of you deserve a prize and have wanted one, but there isn't enough to go around.

The winning names were picked randomly by Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Crystal Schweighoter. This does not mean the winners had the best-tasting recipes because we do not have the time and facilities to taste-test them (although I'm certain the winners do have wonderful recipes). Even if you did not win a prize, your recipe is probably greatly prized by someone's family who had the opportunity to try a new recipe because you submitted it.

And, even if you did not win, wasn't it fun to find new recipes and read the excerpts about each family? Thanks for doing your part to make this contest the best ever.

Congratulations to the following winners:

Rachel Shetterly, Rising Sun, Md.; Linda Geis, Fresno, CA; Marjorie Doland, Slate Hill, N.Y.; Peggy Ladue, Glen Rock; Dottie Kemmerling, New Tripoli; Ephraim Zook, Lititz; Venita Christman, Greencastle; Janet Palmatary, Church Hill, MD; Mrs. Joseph Kiss, Walnutport; Gladys Wright, Glen Rock; Connie Cryder, Lock Haven; Rebecca Zook, Bethel; Gail Crooke, New Hope; Sue Pardo, Jarrettsville, MD; Mary Litschaur, Revere; Laura Horning, Mifflintown; Sara Eisenhart, Thomasville; Ann Fackler, Lebanon; Denzal Burkholder, Fredericksburg; Kathy Romberger, Pitman; Eileen Newcomer; Mount Joy; and Heather Purvin, New Hope.

Wooden Versus Plastic Cutting Boards

For the past several years, U.S.D.A. sanitarians have advised food handlers, both at home and in restaurants, to discard their old wooden cutting boards and to use glass or plastic ones instead. The advantage of such non-abosrbent materials is that they are non-porous, easier to clean and, theoretically, easier to keep bacteria-free. In practice, though, University of Wisconsin scientists have found that wooden boards are much safer, so far as bacterial growth is concerned. Even though wood is more porous than plastic, there is something in wood (possible lignin?) that gets rid of bacteria very rapidly. Salmonella and coliform bacteria (the most common dangerous contaminants of poultry and meat) are quickly reduced in number of 99.9 percent on wooden cutting boards or old-fashioned wooden butcher's blocks. Scored and scratched plastic or glass surfaces, on the other hand, harbor bacteria and permit them to proliferate. Furthermore, the Wisconsin researchers found, glass cutting surfaces have the additional disadvantage of introducing minute glass particles into our food. So, if you have an old wooden cutting board, consider putting it back into use. However, until the Wisconsin research is confirmed, food sanitarians will likely continue recommending plastic or glass cutting boards. Incidentally, most commercially available wooden cutting boards are treated with mineral oil, etc., to render them smooth and shiny. This makes the surface less absorptive and more like that of plastic. Time and wear should take care of this.

Stephanie Singo Wins Somerset County Dairy Princess Crown

Gay N. Brownlee
Somerset Co. Correspondent

SOMERSET (Somerset Co.) — Stephanie Singo, 16, was chosen as the new Somerset County Dairy Princess on Saturday, June 19. She is the daughter of Robert and Brenda Singo, who own and operate Singo Feed and Sons of Somerset. She steps into the position held by outgoing dairy princess, Melissa Spory of Boswell, who placed the crown on her head.

She is a senior at the Rockwood Area High School and active in FFA, being president of the local chapter and vice-president of the county organization. She's a member of the high school band, chorus, and cheerleading squad.

Her original skit was based on a Wizard of Oz theme, which took about one month of preparations, she said.

Usually, dairy princess contestants fear the questions more than any portion of their competition. For Princess Stephanie, the worst part was waiting for the judges to reach their decision. "After it was over, and we were waiting for the results," she said, "that was the worst part."

Ricki Johnson, 16, Somerset, daughter of Richard and Donna Johnson was named alternate dairy princess. She, too is a junior at the Rockwood Area High School.

Angelina Poligardo, 17, was named Miss Congeniality. Her parents are Dominic and Teresa Poligardo, Meyersdale.

Corby Svonavec, 16, the daughter of Richard and Debbie Svonavec, from Somerset also competed in the contest.

Erica Johnson is the 1993 Dairy Maid and will represent the new county dairy support program, which works in conjunction with the dairy princess contest. Her parents are Brad and Cindy Walker of Berlin.

Somerset's very first dairy princess from 1964, Jane Wallace was introduced to the audience, and the 1972 princess, Jeanne Nemanic performed a homorous skit.

The 15 Little Maids are Jana Seifert, Sharayah Scheffel, Laura Stutzman, Joy Tressler, Amy Bocsy, Greta Moyer, Carrie Miller, Wendy Miller, Jenny Miller, Shannon McWilliams, Nicole Barnick, Cassandra Hay, Rebekah Fox, Ashley Coddington and Jerika Yoder.

Their escorts were Joshua Pope, David Bittner, Kevin Bittner, Joshua Will, Justin Kaufman, Jarred Fox, and Joel Yoder.

News anchorperson, Lauria Lehosky, WWCP Channel 8 Television was the master of ceremonies.

Judges were Debbie Bush, Blair Co.; Angie McDonald, Bedford Co., and Nancy Imhoff, Pittsburgh.

Many door prizes were given and an ice cream social was held for guests who had gone through the contestants' receiving line.

The dairy princess pageant committee is Angie Shober, Jill Bastian, Melissa Fox, Vicki Stahl, Tomalee Will, Brenda Slingluff, Susan Yoder and Diane Bittner.

The Somerset Co. Dairy Promotion Committee members are Charlene McWilliams, Carol Flannery, Dorothy Naugle, Nina Ferko, Evelyn Moyer, Shelly Walker, Gloria Kauffman, Bonnie Ringler, Barb Brant, Helen Mishler, Sue Tressler and Pat Saylor.

Stephanie Singo, left, is the 1993 Somerset County dairy princess. With her is Erica Walker the County milk maid who will work in conjunction with the new princess and her alternate to help promote dairy products.

I make this cheesecake often because I am a total chocoholic. It uses a lot of wholesome dairy products instead of those cheesecakes made with sweetened condensed milk. It is so easy to make even though it tastes like it's bought at a fancy restaurant. Enjoy.

My husband, Scott and I live on a farmette in Brunnerville. We have two goats, an Irish Setter, and a fat cat.

We enjoy going to the mountains, antique hunting, and working at our 150-year-old farmhouse. I work part time for a physical therapist and enjoy cooking and decorating cakes in my spare-time. I never miss an inch of the Lancaster Farming.

My husband Steve and I have 4 children. Mike, 21, Linda, 19, Paul, 18 and Joshua 3 We've only been farming for three years. We raise beef cattle, have one milk cow and a few pigs. It's hard getting started in farming with the cost of machinery. We have a great neighbor who lets us use his equipment. We get a lot of help from our family. Steve works a full-time job and takes his vacations when the hay is ready. We pick six acres of corn by hand. Farming is a busy and fulfilled life.

We have a good product (milk) to advertise. As dairy farmers, showing off the use of our product is our business.

We enjoy entering ice cream contests at the Pennsylvania Farm Show and Ag Progress Days. This recipe was the top winner in the state Farm Show held at Harrisburg in January. In an attempt to portray the togetherness of dairy families, we have our four grandsons help churn the ice cream. They are Eric Smith, Tyrone; Bradley Smith, Roaring Spring; Brent Rhine, Roaring Spring; and Jason Fetzer, Brooks Mills.

I've been making ice cream ever since I can remember. My parents used to make it, too. Making ice cream is good family fun. We make it Sunday night for our family get-togethers.

We run a convenience/food store in North Central Pa, in a small rural town of Galeton. Top sellers are subs, stromboli's and pizza- all made to order as we continue to operate Fat Alberts. We have two boys and are active in our small rural church.

We were a farm family from the 1930s until my husband and I retired about 10 years ago. Our dairy farm was about 60 miles north of New York City. The farms in our area have been cut back considerably by the migration of New york City dwellers moving away from the city. Our young people decided the area we are in was not a good place to have a dairy farm as a farming career is really a lifetime thing.

The ingredients in my cheesecake recipe are all natural. Margarine, non-dairy creamers, egg substitutes, and imitation whipped cream topping are not purchased for our table use. My father-in-law and husband believe a dairy farmer who used the substitutes were not speaking well of the product the farmer was selling. Needless to say, this cheese cake was not eaten every day as it is very rich, but I do serve it on special occasions and nobody refuses to eat it. It disappears fast — down to the last luscious crumb.

CARAMEL PUDDING

12 cups milk
4 cups brown sugar
½ cup butter
8 eggs
2 cups flour
4 teaspoons vanilla
½ teaspoon salt
8 ounces whipped cream
Heat 10 cups milk. In separate kettle boil sugar and butter for 7 min. When brown mix ¼ teaspoon soda to ¼ cup hot water and add, stir well, then add hot milk. Stirring well. Make a paste with flour and remaining 2 cups of milk and add. Cook 5 minutes, then add beaten eggs and vanilla. Cook 5 minutes longer or until thick. Cool overnight then beat well and add whipped cream. Garnish with whipped cream.

The reason I chose the recipe is not just because it uses a lot of good cows' milk, but also because I got married on April 3rd and we had this pudding at the wedding dinner.

My husband and I live on a 100-acre farm in Richland. We milk 63 cows.

We were both raised on dairy farms.

CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY EGGNOG

10 eggs, separated
¾ cup sugar
Dash salt
Dash nutmeg
2-4 cups rum, optional
1 quart heavy cream, whipped
Beat egg yolks until lemony and thick; add salt. Beat in sugar. Slowly add rum, constantly beating with wire whisk. Whisk well, stir in cream. Beat egg whites until stiff peaks form, fold into eggnog. Chill 2 hours. Dust with nutmeg. Keeps in refrigerator 4 to 5 days.

My husband and I have two boys, Jason, 9, and Dean, 5. We have lived in the Kontnersville — Revere area for many years. We live about 1½ hours from Lancaster. We have been getting the "Lancaster Farming" since 1981, the year we were married. I have always enjoyed the recipe section. Over the years, I have accumulated many excellent recipes. Now I would like to give back to the "Lancaster Farming" one of my best recipes. Our area is a non-farming region so it is always a pleasure to see and read how farming is so vital to our state's commerce. Perhaps the world would be a better place if every person would treasure Mother Earth and nature as my family does. Once we understand nature, we as humans can have a better understanding of ourselves.

Our 123-acre farm is located in the southern part of Tioga County in the little community of Nauvoo.

Besides running the farm, my husband, Jim, works as an electrical technician and works with satellite dishes.

We have a 14-month-old son, Michael, who enjoys the outdoors and loves to help on the farm.

In the spring, we produce maple syrup. We raise corn, oats, hay, and straw for our own use and sell what we can. We maintain about 20 beef cattle and 50 sheep on our farm.

Our lambing season will begin by the end of June. This is not the normal time for most sheep producers to lamb, but it seems to work the best on our busy farm.

This recipe was given by a great aunt of mine who lives in Western Pa. We enjoy this dessert anytime. My husband, Jay Marvin Herr, and I have two boys, Jay Lamar and Joseph Paul. They turn 6 and 2 in July. Jay loves to help sweep the milking area and play with calves. Joseph is very busy and loves to be into everything. We raise all registered Jersey cows and heifers and calves. We grow alfalfa and corn on 60 acres, 15 acres rented. We live along 372 between Buck and Muddy Run Park so traffic is heavy when having to cross the road with equipment, John Deere of course. My husband also collects toy ones and belongs to Solanco Young Farmers. We attend the Pequea Brethren in Christ Church. I love to collect and try new recipes, sew, bake and grow vegetables. We rent from in-laws, Paul H. Herr and Eunice who live close by. His father helps out on Sunday mornings and with field work. He also works for American Breeders Service and he is here often to breed our cows for us.

This is a favorite dish in my family. We make it almost every time we have the family at home. I have three sisters and four brothers, all married except me and my brother. We used to live on a farm, but don't anymore, as my brother took the farm over. Dad now has a woodworking shop and we also have a chicken house. But Dad still helps some with the farming and milks once in a while.

These cookies have always been one of my favorite. Sprinkled with sugar their light texture melts in your mouth. At holidays I decorate them with colored sugars and sprinkles. 2 cups water
2 cups diced potatoes
½ cup diced carrots
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper
1 cup cooked, diced ham
¼ cup butter
¼ cup flour
2 cups milk
1 cup cheddar cheese

Cook vegetables until soft. Do not drain water off. While vegetables are cooking, make white sauce. Melt butter, add flour and stir till smooth. Add milk and cheese and heat till thickened, stirring constantly. Add cheese sauce to vegetables. Mix well and serve.

This recipe is a favorite of our family. My husband, Les, is a dairy farmer and we have 4 children. Our daughter, LaWanda, is a first-year nursing student at L.G.H. School of Nursing. We have 3 boys, Jeff, Chad, and Craig who attend Manheim Central School.

MILLER TAPIOCA PUDDING

In 8 quart kettle, scald:
1 gallon milk
¾ teaspoon salt

Add: 1 cup granulated tapioca and cook 15 minutes, stirring as needed.

Add: 2 cups sugar (lower heat to med. low).

Add: contents from the blender and stir and cook until thick.

In the blender:
12 eggs
2 tablespoons plain gelatin
2 tablespoons cornstarch

Blend together and add 1 cup of the hot milk mixture and blend.

Add: 2 tablespoons vanilla and stir well.

Chill thoroughly. Fold in 1-8 ounce container of Cool Whip. Serve.

We live on a farm raising chickens as broilers. It offers a wide range of opportunities. We have a dog and a few cats. The boys raise quite a few rabbits. We have a nice size garden, too. With a family of six boys, food doesn't stay around very long. I enjoy reading and clipping the recipes in the Lancaster Farming.

CREAMY WHITE FUDGE

¼ cup sweet cream butter
½ cup sour cream
2 cups sugar
12-ounces white chocolate (chopped)
1-7 ounce jar marshmallow creme
½ cup golden raisins
1 teaspoon rum flavoring.

Combine butter, sour cream and sugar in heavy saucepan. Bring to boiling point, stirring constantly. Boil five minutes over medium heat or until candy thermometer reaches 234 degrees, stirring constantly to prevent scorching. Remove from heat, add remaining ingredients, then beat until well blended. Turn into buttered 8"x8"x2" pan. Cool at room temperature, cut into squares. (Makes about 2 pounds).

Combine all ingredients and refrigerate overnight. Serve with assorted fresh vegetables.

My name is Janice and my husband is Gary. We have 5 children: Jeremy 20, Joel 16, Gregory 13, Jody 12 and Gwen 10. Gary and the oldest 2 boys work for E.E. Shenk and Sons, custom farm work. It's a family business that Gary's dad started 60 years ago. The children are in the Manheim Central School District and we are all members of Chiques Church of the Brethren, Manheim, Pa.

We live outside Manheim on 3 acres of land and have sheep, a dog and a cat.

I'm a quilting 4-H leader and all the children are in or have been in 4-H at one time.

The children play in either soccer or baseball. Gary coached for 5 years when the children were under 10 years.

We all love dairy products especially ice cream (homemade the best). I can get the children to eat their vegetables with this dip.

MEXICAN CASSEROLE

2 pounds hamburger cooked and drained (½ onion chopped and cooked with it)
Salt to taste
1 can cream of mushroom soup, 1 can of water and 1-4 ounce can chopped green chilies (drained) — mix these things in a bowl.

To the drained hamburger add 1 can (10 ounce) mild Enchilada Sauce — I use Old El Paso brand.
1 pound shredded cheese
1 bag Dorito chips (I use the Weis 3/4 pound Nacho Cheese Tortilla chips)

Crush chips with rolling pin.

Put ½ of crushed chips in the bottom of a 9x13-inch pan. Put ½ of meat mixture on top of chips layer. Put part of the cheese, then ½ of the soup mixture. Repeat layers and sprinkle remaining cheese on top. Bake in 350° oven for 15-20 minutes or until bubbly on top.

Garnish with a tablespoon sour cream if desired per serving. Makes 10-12.

I got this recipe when we lived in Oklahoma and have shared it with a lot of my friends. It is very easy to make and everyone seems to like it.

I am a graduate of Palmyra High School and Messiah College. I did a year of VS at the Navajo Brethren in Christ Mission in New Mexico where I met my husband. He is a native of Oklahoma. We married in Pennsylvania and moved to Oklahoma and I have lived there for 15 years. My husband was involved in farming. The farms are BIG in Oklahoma and when machinery breaks down (tractors, combines, etc.) it is very expensive to repair things. We weren't making money and I was very homesick for Pennsylvania so my husband decided to get out of farming in Oklahoma and come to Pennsylvania to see if it was as great as I kept telling him it was. He got a job with Kreider Farms, Manheim and now he milks cows. I went to a one year LPN program in Oklahoma and now I am employed as a medication nurse at the Mennonite Home in Lancaster. We have a 16-year-old daughter and a 12-year-old son. Both have adjusted to Pennsylvania life. They think that the schools here are much harder than in Oklahoma.

It is nice to be close to my family. Palmyra isn't too far to go. When I am not working, I like to crochet, make baskets, type letters, bake, make noodles and jelly.

We have some Amish neighbors and it is really neat to learn about their culture. We had some really good friends from New Mexico who were Navajo Indians and in many ways the Navajo Indians and Amish have some things in common. Our whole family was able to experience a buggy ride last summer. The Amish like to do a lot of things we like too.

Sometimes I still can't believe I am here. I never imagined that I would move back here. Nothing is impossible for our Lord to do. I truly believe in miracles!

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

We now have heifers in the meadow in front of our house. And, as they nibble their way along the fence, I watch anxiously to see if they'll eat my flowers. The hollyhocks tower over the fence and are an easy target.

When my sister and her husband visited us recently, she mentioned that only people who have a large garden appreciate other peoples' gardens. If you have one of your own, then you give flowers and vegetables more than a passive glance.

You compare size of vegetables to the ones in your own garden. Or, you look carefully at the colors and shades of flowers. But no matter how you look at another person's plants, they do require a lot of work.

Just now our area is very dry and my husband has been faithfully watering his new trees. This spring he put in pear, cherry, peach and apple. There are even two elderberry bushes.

Recently I was interviewed for a national radio program called "Sound and Print." Actually, I'd never heard of it, but my son who lives in Atlanta says that he listens to it. The subject of interest was our heirloom pea seeds, which we've shared with the Landis Valley Museum. Our two kinds of peas are doing fine in our garden despite the lack of rainfall. In fact, there are more than I can sell or freeze. Some of last year's crop are still in the freezer.

Our next big job will be to pick the black raspberries and blueberries as they follow the peas and strawberries very closely. There is no rest for the weary.

Penn State Sponsors Crafts Workshop

MIDDLETOWN (Dauphin Co.) — Penn State Cooperative Extension will sponsor a workshop on Marketing our Crafts Together on Tuesday, July 20, at Penn State Harrisburg in Middletown. This one-day workshop will center on two issues of vital importance to craftspeople — formation of a crafts cooperative (for collective buying of supplies and selling of products) and effective display techniques. Guest speakers will be Gregory R. Passewitz from Ohio State University, and Dr. Cathy Hamlett of Penn State University. The session will be held in the Capital Union Building (CUB) from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Advance registration (by July 15) is required; a $20 fee covers materials and lunch. Lebanon Flower Club Holds Flower Arranging Workshop

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — When it comes to flower arranging, you can never stop learning, according to the concensus of members of the Lebanon County Flower Club.

A hands-on workshop was held for members on June 16 at Cornwall Manor Community Center. Fellow-member Keiko Smith of Annville taught the workshop. Keiko said that she has been studying flower arranging for 50 years.

After some brief instructions on line designs, members chose materials from bucketfuls of fresh cut flowers and greens to arrange in containers that they had brought from home.

Keiko said although the use of Oasis to hold flowers in place works fine for individual use, flower pin holders are used more often in flower shows that are judged. She demonstrated the use of various sizes and shapes of the pin holders. If pin holders seem inclined to tip over, anchor them with another pin holder placed upside down and slightly overlapping the base holder.

One of the best ways to hide the base holder is to arrange leaves around the edge of the container. In her demonstration, Keiko used leaves from peony and pussy willow bushes.

She said that leaves from any bush or plant may be used, but new shoots from the stems should be removed as they have a tendency to wilt. Big leaves with stronger stems work best when placed around the base.

Blooms from clematis vines and lamb's ear form the focal point for this right angle arrangement.

This striking arrangement uses peony leaves, ornamental grasses, allium, and baby's breath.

She reminded the class to remember to place leaves at the back of the arrangement even if it will not be seen because the added material adds depth to the arrangement and the focal point of an arrangement generally is at the bottom of the arrangement.

This right angle flower arrangement shows how effectively the base of the arrangement can be covered with a pleasing design.

A member examines the flower arrangement she made to see if it conforms to the rules taught in the workshop.

These lilies and iris leaves were arranged in a low container by Phyliss Conto, who in keeping with the rules, had the highest point reach twice the width of the container plus the depth.

Keiko freely uses shears to continually trim stems and leaves to conform to the shape and design that she wants.

In trimming leaves from large stems, a brown wooden stem will look white when trimmed. Keiko uses a dark Magic Marker to color the exposed part.

It is important to cut the stems of larger branches with care so that the stem will draw up water. Stems should be cut at an angle or split in half.

"Stems should always be cut under water and placed in water immediately," she said.

Ferns and soft leaves work better in mass arrangements. While large leaves work best in line arrangements.

The height of an arrangement should be twice the width of the container plus the depth or a bit higher. A table centerpiece should not interfere with eye contact between guests at a table. To find the best height for a table arrangement, Keiko suggested one sit on the dining room chair, prop your elbow on the table and measure from the elbow to no more than the tip of your nose.

Containers generally influence the shape of the flower arrangement. The most often used designs are crescent, horizontal, vertical, right or left angle, hogarth curve, fan shape, circle, oval, and triangle.

Because member Lilly Hershey wanted to do something different, she chose a low odd-shaped container and used driftwood in her arrangement. To keep the driftwood in an upright position, she fastened the driftwood to a tin coffee can lid with a screw. She used stones and pin holders to anchor the lid to the bottom of the container.

"Always think of triangle shapes and place flowers at those points," Keiko said.

Scale, color, and balance are important in an arrangement. Large flowers look out of proportion if placed in a small vase. To maintain balance, avoid top heavy designs. Color is often achieved by a sense of color combination.

Imagination adds variety arrangements. Look beyond the flowers growing in your yard to bushes, trees, and weeds and wildflowers in meadows. Some of the unusual plant materials that members used were meadow tea, clematis, canteberry bells, ornamental grasses, fever few, and weeds.

If more information on the Lebanon Flower Club is desired, call (717) 273-7039.

Lily Hershey adds the finishing touches to an arrangement in which she used driftwood and an unique flower container.

A TASTE FOR TOMATOES

The fresh taste of tomatoes . . . is there any taste that says summer better? This is the vegetable I long for most when supermarkets offer rather tasteless winter tomatoes from south of the border.

Fresh tomatoes belong to one of the most colorful and varied of the basic four food groups: fruits and vegetables. And their nutritional offerings are as sweet as their flavor and aroma.

A medium-sized tomato contains 35 calories. For that very modest amount of energy, tomatoes provide 40% of the recommended daily allowance of Vitamin C and 20% of the Vitamin A allowance.

They are also a cholesterol free food very low in sodium (only 10 milligrams). That's a real plus for those on special diets.

Tomatoes have a colorful history. They are native to the Americas. They were initially cultivated by Aztecs and Incas as early as 700 A.D. For centuries they were thought to be poisonous. The story goes that the myth was shattered in 1820 by a man who stood on the steps of a New Jersey courthouse and ate a peck of tomatoes while a band played funeral marches and a few thousand people watched waiting! Well, he lived, and the Creole's in New Orleans put their cooking on the map with their tomato-enhanced gumbos and jambalayas. The people of Maine quickly followed suit, combining fresh tomatoes with local seafood.

Tomatoes used to be a high-acid food. Many tomatoes today are now a borderline high-acid/low-acid food. Without testing you cannot tell what the acid level is.

To guarantee that the tomatoes you can are a high-acid food and can be safely processed in a boiling water bath, they must have acid added. It's recommended that you add two tablespoons bottled lemon juice directly to each quart of tomatoes you can (add it to the jar before filling). Halve the amount for pints. Add a bit of sugar to offset the acid taste, if you like.

The open kettle method of processing has not been recommended for many years and is particularly dangerous with tomato products. The questions I receive indicate that many home canners still use this method and, frankly, I'm worried because of the potential for botulism.

According to information I recently received from the Kerr Glass Manufacturing Company, research has shown that the time for boiling water processing times of whole or halved tomatoes packed in water, tomato juice or with no added liquid has been increased. They recommend processing pints and quarts for 85 minutes in a boiling water canner and 25 minutes at five pounds pressure in a pressure canner.

To enjoy fresh tomatoes at their peak of flavor, use when fully ripe. Ripe tomatoes should be completely red or reddish-orange, depending on variety. They will have a sweet subtle aroma and will give slightly to gentle palm pressure.

To hasten ripening, place fresh tomatoes in a brown paper bag or in a fruit ripening bowl. As the fruit ripens, it emits a natural gas - ethylene. This gas speeds up the ripening process when confined around the fruit in a closed bag or fruit ripening bowl. Do not place unripe tomatoes on your window sill to ripen. They will sunburn rather than ripen.

No Peas, Please

When parents complain that their children don't eat vegetables, I always ask for more information. First, do the parents eat a variety of fruits and vegetables regularly? Children learn just by watching their parents.

According to Dr. Judith Myers-Walls, Human Development Specialist at Purdue University, there are some of the unconscious messages we may give our children through our eating routines: "Meat and potatoes make the meal; vegetables are extras." "Fresh fruit is a good snack." "A good meal always includes desserts." What are your messages about meals?

Studies show that children and parents tend to eat the same types of foods. A National Cancer Institute study showed that 75 percent of the United States population doesn't eat the recommended five or more servings of fruits and vegetables each day. Eating vegetables is not just an issue with children.

If you feel comfortable with the eating patterns you are modeling, check other areas. Vegetables with strong aromas, drab colors or mushy textures may be a turn off. I polled my nieces and nephews about their preferences. I found out one didn't like carrots because some time ago he had burnt his tongue on a spoonful of them. I found out that tomato sauce is okay, but tomato pieces in soup is "gross!" The six-year old said, "I kinda like spinach 'cause it's good for you. I know because of Popeye." The youngest told me she liked cucumbers, "especially with cream." Her mother had to interpret that for me. "Cream means dipped in blue cheese dressing."

To my surprise — my nieces' and nephews' favorite vegetable was artichoke leaves dipped in butter. This may not be the most nutritious vegetable, but it is tasty. The fact that they love it illustrates several important principles of teaching children to eat vegetables.

1. Start early. If a four-year old likes artichokes, you know it is something she was introduced to at an early age. Serve a new food at the beginning of the meal. Only try one new item at a time. Then give your child the same freedom you would give an adult to like to dislike a particular item.

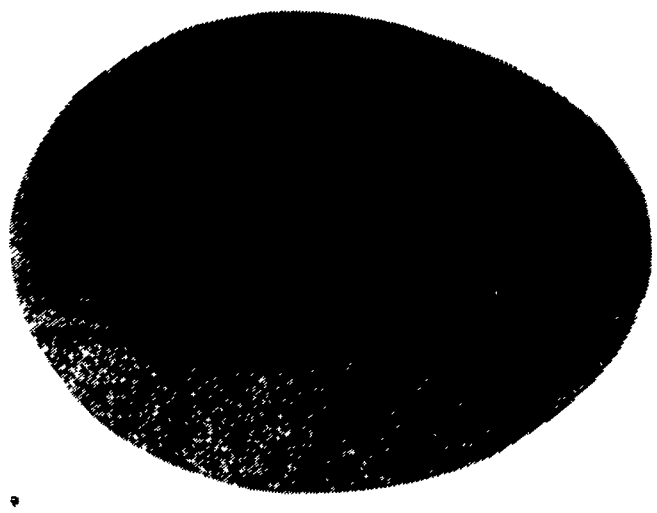
2. Enhance the taste. The artichoke was probably a favorite because the BUTTER tastes good. Melted cheese, dips, and sauces can make a vegetable more appealing. But use caution with this suggestion. Some kids would rather have everything plain.

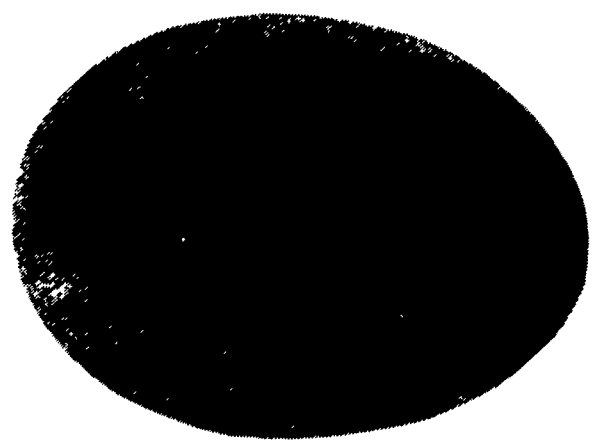
3. Finger food is fun. Peeling and dipping makes eating vegetables more like a treat. Anything you can do to involve the children in the process will increase their chances of eating the food. Let each child select one vegetable to buy during a shopping trip. Older children can help chop, toss, tear and serve the vegetables.

If following these principles still doesn't bring results, try different ways of serving the same vegetable — raw, cooked, sliced, grated, plain, with dips and sauces, sweet, spicy, cold, hot, alone, in casseroles, soups or baked products. Offer small servings.

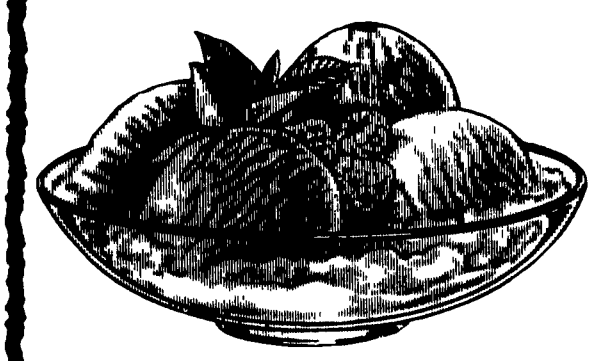
Control the food supplies. Keep lots of healthy foods on hand — fruits, vegetables, cheese, whole grain bagels and muffins, popcorn, yogurt, peanut butter. Don't stock soda, chips and other high-fat, low-nutrition foods. That way hungry kids will have only good options.

Remember, the power struggles over vegetables at dinner may not be about food. Your children may want your attention. Turn off the stereo or TV and include them in the conversation. Re-think mealtime rules. Parernts tend to expect better behavior from their kids at the table than they would in the family room. Be reasonable about what you expect from them given their ages.





OUTPUT DEPENDS ON INPUT



Are your layers getting the full amount of feed needed for peak production? Are they giving top performance during the entire laying cycle? Don't be fooled by different feeding systems that could come up short on delivery. Go with the system that has proven itself year after year. Go with the Big Dutchman Chain Feeding System.

4-H HAPPENINGS

Summer 4-H Program Assistant

During 4-H Overnight Camp, more than 90 Adams County and York County 4-H'ers went back into the heritage of our country and belonged to native American tribes during the week's activities.

4-H Overnight Camp was held June 11 to June 14 at Camp Eder in Fairfield. Seventy-five campers ranging from ages 8 to 12 spent their nights sleeping in covered wagons under the stars or in cabins in the woods, while their days were filled with many exciting activities.

Each camper belongs to one of four Indian tribes: the Sioux, the Apache, the Navajo, or the Cherokee. During the week, each tribe prepared a skit, tribal shield, and creative gift to be presented to the "Tribal Council and Chief Running Bull" (teen counselors) at a campfire held on Wednesday night.

The tribes also choose a brave (boy) and squaw (girl) to be their spokesperson at campfire. During campfire, tribes also got to challenge each other. Some of the challenges this year were shortest camper, camper who could stare the longest, and shortest chain of four campers.

During Monday and Tuesday, the tribes rotated among various workshops. The workshops were medicine dance (recreation), soaring eagle (rocketry), from the forest (wildlife/nature), and totem pole (crafts). In these workshops, kids made rockets, birds' nests, leather puzzles, and other crafts. On Tuesday, the kids got to choose from four intensive workshops: mountain so high (hiking), fire stick (shooting sports), flying bird (kite making), and eat so much (homemade ice cream making and dairy nutrition). These workshops were prepared and presented by the 4-H Camp staff and teen counselors.

On Monday morning, personnel from Hershey Zoo visited Camp Eder during 4-H Camp to give a presentation about Birds of Prey. During this presentation, campers had the opportunity to see several birds such as the White Owl. The 4-H'ers also got to pet one or two of the birds and look at various exhibits about birds of prey. Other activities included camp songs, recreational games, morning exercises, and Camp Eder olympics.

Sixteen teen counselors led opening and closing ceremonies each day and ended each meal with a thought of the moment. Those counselors were Mike Linebaugh, Matt Linebaugh, Kim Funt, Laura Mayer, Curtis Mayer, II, Sadie Bucher, Abe Bucher, Heather Hawkins, Rebecca Brown, Abe Bucher, Dan Ludwig, Denise Green, Laura Cunningham, Melissa Wenger, and Angie Giardullo. These counselors also put on a humorous program during the first night of camp to get the campers to relax and feel more at home at camp. On Wednesday night, counselors and staff presented a candle-lighting service at the campfire. During the week, teen counselors were responsible for supervising the campers, leading the campers to various activities, and becoming like big brothers and sisters to the campers: advising them, being a friend to them, and caring about them.

Seven 4-H Camp staff members worked together to help plan 4-H camp and oversee the campers and counselors. These staff members also organized and presented workshops. The volunteer staff included Dan Hoffman, Ina Bucher, and Cheryl Kutz, who was the medicine woman (nurse). Jerry Tyson, Adams County agent - 4-H, Darlene Rersh, Adams County extension assistant, Heather Peterson, York County summer assistant, and Jayne Hess, Adams County summer assistant, were other staff members. The Camp Eder kitchen staff supplied all the meals during 4-H camp.

Fifty-nine Adams County 4-H'ers participated in 4-H Overnight Camp at Camp Eder. Those who attended were Melissa Pendoline, Josh Bumbaugh, Shannon Holtzinger, Jonathan Murren, Justin Meloy, Heidi Miller, Mathew Lott, Adam Helm, Mary Gantz, Ciji Urban, Angie Hoffman, Andrew Reinecker, Jonathan Reinecker, Josh Brown, Jerrod Brannen, J.J. Burton, Allison Kutz, Angela Alexander, Nathan Slaybaugh, Abby Lott, Adam Bodenberg, Kristi Cunningham, Wade Black, Emily Black, Benjamin Jacobs, Adam Jacobs, Bruce Wilt, Brandyn Challenger, Janna Carbaugh, Jeremy Carbaugh, Ben Jones, Adam Jones, Jennifer Coleman, Jessie Elworth, Dustin Weikel, Keith Livelsberger, Jason Keller, Abbie Spicer, Janel Keller, Zeb Eckert, Nathan Rhodes, Brandy Rhodes, Jessica Bange, Hannah Myers, Natasha Bosley, Robert Bosley, Travis Rhodes, Jena Rhodes, Sarah Grim, Laura Rankin, Devon Rankin, Joshua Jacoby, Rebecca Hunt, Ashley Stine, Tiffany Staub, Nicholas Rudolph, Nicole Bodenberg, and Ann Bodenberg.

4-H Woolies Club

On April 19, Lancaster County 4-H Woolies Club had a meeting on market lamb selection. Ed Donough and family made an informative video on features to look for when selecting market lambs for upcoming fairs.

The last meeting was at Lloyd and Laura Reiff's house on May 17. Lloyd talked about feeding, vaccinating, worming, and management of market lambs from the time they are bought until they are shown.

Ed Donough talked about the care of ewes before and after lambing as well as care a new born lamb receives just after birth.

Solanco 4-H

The Solanco Community 4-H Club held its second meeting on May 25 in the Hoffman Building.

Chief Wassmer, Corporal Treaster, and Patrolman First Class Zeyak came and talked to the 4-H members.

Wassmer warned the members of the dangers of drugs, and he explained how much of a risk it is to even be around someone who deals or does drugs.

Treaster and Zeyak, whose talks were geared toward the younger members, emphasized the importance of bicycle helmets, and how important it is to lock your bike to a bike rack or even a pole while your bike is unattended.

Conodoguinet 4-H Sheep Club

The May meeting of the Conodoguinet 4-H Sheep Club was held May 19 at the Good Shepherd Church.

The mothers of the club members held a meeting to discuss plans for a food stand at the Cumberland Wool Pool on June 16. Weigh-ins for the market lambs were held June 5 at the Spring Preview Show at the Shippensburg Fairgrounds, and on June 6 at Pine Haven Farm.

Canned goods were collected for distribution for our community service project. We viewed two videos on the different uses of wool and wool products. The countywide workshop will be held at Pine Haven Farm on June 26 from 9:30 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Summer At 4-H Center

This year Montgomery County 4-H is offering a twist from their day camps of the past.

This year, two separate three-day day camps will be offered, each one with a different environmental theme.

The first day camp, to be held the 13-15 of July, will revolve around ecology, recycling, and the environment. The second day camp, August 3-5, will have an aquatic theme, focusing on marine life and ecology.

Each day camp will also include a field trip on the final day.

Day camp is open to all area youth ages 8-12. The cost for each three-day session is $20 for the first family member and $17 for the second. This will include snacks, a beverage at lunch, all materials, transportation to and from the outing, and a camp T-shirt.

Transportation must be provided to and from the 4-H center daily. For more information or to register, call Patty Lafferty, 4-H Summer Assistant, at (215) 489-4315.

Animal Science Day Camp

The Montgomery County 4-H Program proudly announces an animal science day camp for all youth ages 9-13. The program will introduce boys and girls to the basics of animal husbandry, particularly concentrating on sheep, horses, dairy cows and goats, poultry and rabbits.

Camp sessions will take place July 12-16, 9 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. at the Montgomery County 4-H Center, on Rt. 113 in Creamery. The program will incorporate the use of demonstrations, workshops, videos, field trips, and actual hands-on opportunities with animals.

Cost for the week is $35. Youth do not need to be in 4-H but will become members by attending camp. Prior experience is not necessary, just the interest in learning about animals and the care they need.

Nancy Kadwill, Montgomery 4-H program coordinator, said the camp is able to be offered at such a reasonable rate due to the generosity of a grant from the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. Included in the cost are all materials, workshops, field trips, snacks, and a camp T-shirt and completion certificates. Campers need to bring their own lunch.

For more information, itinerary, and application forms, call (215) 489-4315 between 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. Registration is due by July 2 at the 4-H office.

Country Cooks 4-H Prep Club

The Country Cooks 4-H Prep Club met at the Marcine's home in Whitehouse Station recently.

The group finished making their ceramic turkey, which they started at a privious meeting. The project included how to "dry-brush" the feathers.

4-H Shows

A wide array of summer and fall horse programs and activities are scheduled for Pennsylvania youth. Local and county activities include meetings with horse professionals, farm tours, horse camps, clinics, horse judging, hippology, and horse bowl training, trail rides, horse shows, and much more.

State 4-H Achievement Days will be held July 27-29 at Penn State. Youth from across the commonwealth will compete in horse bowl, hippology, public speaking, and demonstration contests. The state horse judging contest will include junior and senior divisions of halter and performance classes.

The third annual Equine Educational Program will be held at Penn State's Ag Progress Days, August 17-19, at Rockspring. The event will again feature events of interest to both youth and adults, including training and handling clinics, 4-H demonstrations, tack and equipment displays, breed demonstrations and information, riding and driving exhibitions, therapeutic riding, feeding and housing information, equine videos, and horseshoeing.

Regional horse 4-H production shows are scheduled for August 23-27 at five locations across Pennsylvania. Young people may show horses up to three years of age that they have bred or purchased as yearlings or younger. Four-H members may participate with many breeds and types of horsers in both halter and pleasure futurity classes. Youth who qualify at these shows then advance to state competition.

Approximately 6,500 Pennsylvania 4-H members participate in local, county and district horse shows during the summer. Competition at qualifying shows continues through September, with more than 900 horses expected at the State 4-H Horse Show at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg on October 29-31.

For more information on the listed programs and activities, contact your cooperative extension office or call (814) 863-3668.

I saw those entries last year, I didn't know this was something you did every year, but I thought it was very interesting. At home, as long as I can remember we always got the Lancaster Farming. So last year for Christmas I subscribed it for my husband.

We make furniture, but my husband has a big heart for animals, especially calves. So on the side we raise calves and sell them for family cows. Most of them are Jersey or a Jersey mix. We also raise Dalmatians, then there are a few sheep, a few chickens, two horses, one Saddlebred, one Belgian, a bull and a cat. Last year we raised some turkeys for our own meat. This year we are thinking of raising some more feathered friends.

But the two little ones we love best of our collection — our two daughters, Jessica, two, and Anne, eleven months. This recipe I am sending is one of my family recipes. We were great ice cream eaters.

Even though it was a special family recipe; whenever my Mom made it for company, somebody asked for the recipe, and she always gave it out. It's still my #1 homemade ice cream.

I am 17-years old, the youngest of five sisters and two brothers. My dad has been farming all these years and tells me that he has been farming before that (28 years).

I started milking cows when I was 10 years old, too small to reach the pipeline, but managed by jumping up and down.

My brother now lives on the farm and Dad is semi-retired. We moved off the dairy farm four years ago, but still help out a lot.

Dad now has a hog barn and I am working for Lantern Lodge Motor Inn.

Rabbits Sent To West Africa

NEW WINDSOR, Md. — On Monday, June 14, thirty New Zealand White rabbits left Dulles International Airport, bound for the town of Bamenda in the West African nation of Cameroon. The rabbits, all excellent quality breeding stock, will become a part of the "Health for All" Rabbit Project, a program supported by Heifer Project International (HPI).

HPI began working with rabbits in Cameroon in 1981 as a part of a program including a broad range of livestock, from dairy cattle to poultry. The group of families receiving some of the first rabbits formed a group with the motto, "health for all". Their goal was to encourage small holder rabbit production which would provide low-cost, high-protein meat for rural families.

People living in this area had been dependent on wild animals or "bush meat" as their primary source of protein, but such animals were becoming rare as the population grew. Many families were interested in starting to raise rabbits because they can be fed on weeds and leaves from what is grown on the farm. The rabbits produced can be used as a source of protein, and sold for cash.

The project group began cooperating with St. Mary's Home Economics Center, a Catholic school for girls, married women, young mothers and handicapped women. The school offers home economics courses to women of all religions, emphasizing community development through encouraging village extension activities. Graduates of the school teach families and communities improved health, sanitation and nutrition, and encourage people to consider raising rabbits as a source of protein. To date, over 5,100 people have benefitted from the program, and about 900 families are raising rabbits directly as a result of this project.

The need for improving the quality of the rabbits available has become increasingly clear over the last few years. The project leaders designed a breeding program that would benefit all participants within a short time, and as a result, HPI agreed to provide the breeding stock necessary to bring about the projected genetic improvement.

All families receiving rabbits must first attend a training course and demonstrate their knowledge in rabbit management and care. Each family is given 2 to 3 months to develop low-cost rabbit hutches and to undertake small scale pasture improvement before being supplied rabbits.

Heifer Project International works in partnership with others to alleviate hunger, poverty and environmental degradation by helping families become self sufficient for food and income. HPI development includes animals, training and technical assistance to low income families in 37 countries and 12 states within the United States. All families receiving assistance are required to "pass on the gift" of what they have received, usually by passing on offspring of their animals to other families in their community.

For more information, contact Heifer Project International, P.O. Box 188, New Windsor, MD 21776, or call (410) 635-8740.

Take Me Out To The Old-Fashioned Ball Game

DOVER, Del. — On July 14 and August 18 from 6 p.m. — 8 p.m., the grounds behind the Delaware Agricultural Museum and Village exhibit building will become the baseball field for recreated 19th century baseball games. The games will be played according to the rules adopted by the Massachusetts Association of Base Ball Players at Dedham, Massachusetts on May 13, 1858.

Sometimes referred to as "Town Ball," the Massachusetts game is a derivative of the British Commoners' game of rounders and a primitive form of our modern baseball. "Town Ball" was played in the rural areas of the United States until the late 19th century. Farmers would sell their goods at the Saturday morning market and then play a game of "Town Ball."

There are many differences between "Town Ball" and today's baseball. In "Town Ball" there is no foul territory; four wooden stakes are used instead of bases; and the batter stands between the first and fourth stake. A "Town Ball" team may have between 10 and 14 players. Teams change places after one out and the game is played until 21 runs are scored by one team.

The Delaware Agricultural Museum and Village "Town Ball" games promise to be fun for everyone. Visitors are encouraged to bring a picnic, tour the museum and root for the team of their choice. The museum, a private, non-profit organization, is located just south of Delaware State College on Route 13 in Dover. Admission to a "Town Ball" game is $3 for adults, $2 for senior citizens and youth 10 - 17, $1 for children 6 - 9 and free for children under 6 and museum members. For further information, call (302) 734-1618.

Montgomery Extension Promotes Organic Waste Recycling, Composting

CREAMERY (Montgomery Co.) — Montgomery County Cooperative Extension has recently initiated a program to promote organic waste recycling and composting throughout the county. The program is funded through a grant from The William Penn Foundation. Extension is working in conjunction with the Montgomery County Waste System Authority to bring this type of recycling to municipalities, farmers, nurseries, landscapers, and residents.

Sally Pick has been named project director and will be coordinating a broad range of educational programs. She comes to Cooperative Extension with a Master of Environmental Studies from the Yale School of Forestry and Environmental Studies.

Pick will provide educational and technical assistance to organic waste recyclers, composters, and users of compost, to help the county turn organic wastes into organic resources. The program is intended to reduce the costly disposal of recyclable organic materials, promote environmentally sound uses of these materials, and protect the county's streams and rivers from polluted runoff from poorly managed organic wastes and fertilizer applications (fertilizer use can be reduced with applications of compost and practices like grasscycling).

Here is a sampling of the variety of educational activities Extension is planning: helping municipalities to establish and refine their organic waste recycling and composting, developing educational materials on waste reduction practices such as grasscycling (mulching), working with the county parks department to establish backyard composting demonstration parks, and helping nurseries and landscapers to establish organic waste recycling in these industries. If you have ideas, questions, or want to participate in this new program, Extension encourages you to contact their new organic waste recycling and composting office in Creamery, Skippack Township at (215) 454-1245.

Beef Council Elects New Board

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Elrose Glick, a Mifflin County dairy producer, has been elected chairman of the Pennsylvania Beef Council (PBC) board of directors. Glick replaces Dennis Byrne, a beef producer from Chester County, whose term expired.

Glick, a member of the Beef Council's board of directors since 1988, has previously served as the council's first and second vice-chairman. He is a member of the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association and a past executive committee member of the Pennsylvania Farmer's Association.

Elrose Glick

The board of directors elected Wayne Hoffman, a cattle feeder from York County, as first vice chairman, and Dennis Snyder, a veal producer from Tioga County, as second vice chairman. Bill McCoy, a Lancaster County cattle sales manager, was elected treasurer, and Cheryl Fairbairn, a Chester County cattle producer, was elected secretary.

Three new directors were elected to three-year terms on the council: Bob Gabel was re-elected to a dairy seat, Clayton Harnish was re-elected to a veal seat; and George Sechrist was elected to a packer-processing seat previously held by John Henry Brubaker, whose term had expired.

Two new directors were elected to one-year terms on the council. Lowell Wilson, Centre County, and Ray Grimes, Adams County, filled the expired Pennsylvania Cattleman's Association seats previously occupied by David Seamans and Mike Firestine.

The Best of the Best

The Wheeling 2 oz. Seal of Quality coating represents the best of the best in the Wheeling Corrugating line of premium galvanized roofing and siding. Every panel that carries the 2 ounce coating assures you are getting the toughest, the most durable, the most corrosion resistant galvanized sheet available in today's marketplace.

2oz. Seal of Quality Wheeling

Genuine Old-Time Quality

Every Wheeling 2 oz sheet is manufactured from heavy gauge steel topped with an extra thick zinc coating, and formed into profiles that contribute strength and good looks Build with a Wheeling 2 oz sheet and you'll be working with the kind of durability and dependability that s been a standard in the industry for almost 100 years

The Proof is in the Process

The performance behind the Wheeling 2 oz Seal of Quality is possible because of Wheeling s patented Cook Norteman manufacturing process This technology allows a more consistent quality product and a more uniform coating with unsurpassed zinc adhesion The process takes more handling and more time, but the end result is a super premium panel that has its own limited 20 year performance warranty

BREWEX - For Use In Dairy Feeds

BREWEX is used extensively in complete dairy formulations to contribute utilizable energy. It is a price/performance value when used in dry feeds, liquid feeds and on-farm mixes.

MIX WITH DRY FEEDS: BREWEX is found in commercial pelleted rations for dairy, hogs and poultry as an energy source to replace corn. BREWEX replaces corn on a pound for pound dry basis and provides for improved pellet durability, reduced mineral segregation, dust control and improved palatability in dairy rations.

ON-FARM MIXING

A commercial Jersey dairy farm, having over ten years of experience in feeding BREWEX to partially replace corn finds that

- BREWEX replaced 5% to 10% corn/day
- BREWEX improves butterfat about 0.1%
- BREWEX mixed with forage reduces mortality due to displaced abomasum
- BREWEX helps cattle to stay on feeds

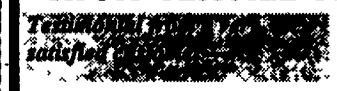
HIGH TENSILE FENCE...THE FARMER'S BEST INVESTMENT



The Beaver Fence Systems are tops! We installed 1 mile of their fence on our farm on Feb. 3, 1993, full size post, 3-1/2 feet deep, excellent braces. We used 5 strand (2 elec.) high tensil, all in place in just 8-1/2 hours! The fence is as straight as an arrow-excellent equipment-very efficient work!

"I am a hard man to convince, but after I saw how Beaver built the fence, I'm ready to put my digging iron away," says David W. Brubaker of Honey Grove Acres, RD1, Box 629 Honey Grove, PA 17035

Steer Test Field Day Sets Carcass Goals

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Polled Hereford breeders were urged to aim their carcass genetics at the "retail target" during sessions at the Kansas National Polled Hereford Feedlot field day and open house recently in Great Bend, Kan.

Dr. Michael Dikeman, meats specialist from Kansas State University, told the breeders that the Polled Hereford breed will "fit" this target. He described slaughter cattle in this major carcass category as having live weights of 1,150 to 1,250 pounds, with average frame scores of 6. He recommended that breeders continue to emphasize increasing muscling with adequate marbling, while decreasing external fat.

"Ideally, they should be on feed for 100 to 120 days, with 60 to 65 percent grading Choice," Dikeman said, "with no Yield Grade 4s."

Geneticist Dr. Bob Schalles, also of Kansas State, pointed out to the breeders that changes in carcass quality can be made because of the fairly high heritability of those traits.

"To make carcass changes, you must have carcass EPDs, particularly for marbling and rib eye area," he said. "You need sufficient number of sires to sample and sufficient number of progeny — at least 20 — to get accurate estimates".

His carcass goal is one that has slight+ to small- marbling with .25 inch fat and a rib eye area of 12 to 13 square inches from a 750 pound carcass. "We need the marbling," he said, "but don't let rib eye area get out of control — either too big or too small."

Bill Dulaney, owner of the feedyard where the national test is conducted, brought the group up to date on the 206 steers currently on feed. For the 112-day period ended in May, the steers have posted an average daily gain of 3.29 pounds, with a sizable percentage gaining well over four pounds per day.

Dr. John Hough, American Polled Hereford Association's director of education and research, then led the attendees through a live animal evaluation, with winners to be declared following the steers' slaughter.

Larry Heidebrecht, American Polled Hereford Association president, outlined the new Baldy program, which features comprehensive marketing and certification plans. He explained that the innovative program should be especially popular with feedlot operators because of its emphasis on feeder cattle, as well as replacement stock.

"We'll be able to document and track the high-performing cattle, thus adding value all across the production chain," he said.

In his concluding remarks, Schalles told the attendees that breeders attending these kinds of field days are "the ones who will be ahead in carcass improvement." He congratulated the steer consignors and strongly encouraged further development of feedlot and carcass evaluations.

Problems Complicate Dairy Promotion

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Dairy food marketing strategists may have been too successful with their "Milk is a Natural" advertising slogan, said Kristen McNutt, editor of Consumer Magazine Digest.

This success, McNutt declared, may have forced the dairy industry into a corner when it comes to getting consumers to accept milk produced by cows treated with bovine somatotropin (BST), a synthetic growth hormone that induces cows to give more milk.

McNutt spoke recently during the opening session at the 88th annual meeting of the American Dairy Science Association. Her keynote talk was sponsored by the ADSA Foundation. It was titled, "What Dairy Scientists Can Learn From Consumers."

The BST controversy is one facet of the entanglement problem facing the dairy industry today, McNutt said. "Entanglement involves issues that are broader than just dairy products," she said. "Irradiation and the whole area of biotechnology also impact your product."

In addition, the dairy industry faces an erosion problem, McNutt said. This involves such issues as nutrition authorities and medical doctors arguing over the merits of milk in the human diet, or getting consumers to think more about dairy products.

"So what can you as dairy scientists do to improve the image of milk?" asked McNutt.

"The public will trust you. Be empathetic with consumers. Listen, and tell them what they want to know. Society always has looked up to the academic world for solving problems — not to government administrators."

McNutt noted that there are two aspects concerning BST and the whole realm of genetic engineering in the minds of consumers. One deals with religion and the other with dollars and cents.

Scientific answers do not help resolve the religious issue, she declared. But sound theology can.

"When it comes to dollars and cents," McNutt said, "consumers want to know how much they will be paying for milk after BST is adopted. A guaranteed lower price certainly could help overcome most perceived risk factors.

"How about a new marketing slogan, 'science saves you money?' Labeling BST milk would then become a moot issue."

This year's annual American Dairy Science Association meeting was held June 13-16 in the Center of Adult Education on the University of Maryland campus at College Park. The Northeast sections of the ADSA and the American Society of Animal Science met jointly at the same location. More than 2,000 dairy science professionals attended from the United States and 10 foreign countries.

Progress Through Ag Tour, Picnic Set

COUDERSPORT (Potter Co.) — The seventh annual "Progress Through Communications for Agriculture" tours and picnic are scheduled on Thursday, July 15.

This year, the event will be held at one location, the Smokers' Allegen Farms, Genesee. The afternoon tour program is by invitation only. Hay wagons will be used to take visitors to the following tour sites on the farm: dairy, 1:45 p.m. - 3 p.m.; conservation, 3 p.m. - 4 p.m.; forest management, 4 p.m. - 5:30 p.m.

There will also be various displays set up, including a pesticide handling and disposal safety demonstration by Gary Brown of Helena Chemical.

The picnic dinner, featuring four meats (beef, veal, pork, and lamb) is open to the public and begins at 7 p.m. Featured speaker will be Earl Ainsworth, editor, Farm Journal, Inc.

Tickets are $5 each from any member of the committee, or by calling the Potter County Cooperative Extension Office, (814) 274-8540.

The purpose of "Progress Through Communications for Agriculture" is to improve communications between Potter County farmers and those involved in formulating agricultural policy.

Managers Begin Certification Training

LEOLA (Lancaster Co.) — The territorial sales managers from Gro-Mor Plant Food Company, met recently to begin training for the certified crop advisors examination, which will be held later this summer.

The training session focused on the science of soil fertility and liming, which is only a small part of the subject material that will be covered on the exam.

The Certified Crop Advisor status will be awarded to those individuals who have demonstrated their knowledge of the entire scope of professional crop production and have a formal education combined with years of field experience.

Gro-Mor is participating in this certification process to continue its tradition of employing fully qualified and highly trained sales and support staff to best serve farmers.

Following the classroom training session, the sales managers visited a Leola-based vegetable farm to observe intensive sweet corn production and tour their foliar fertilizer test plots.

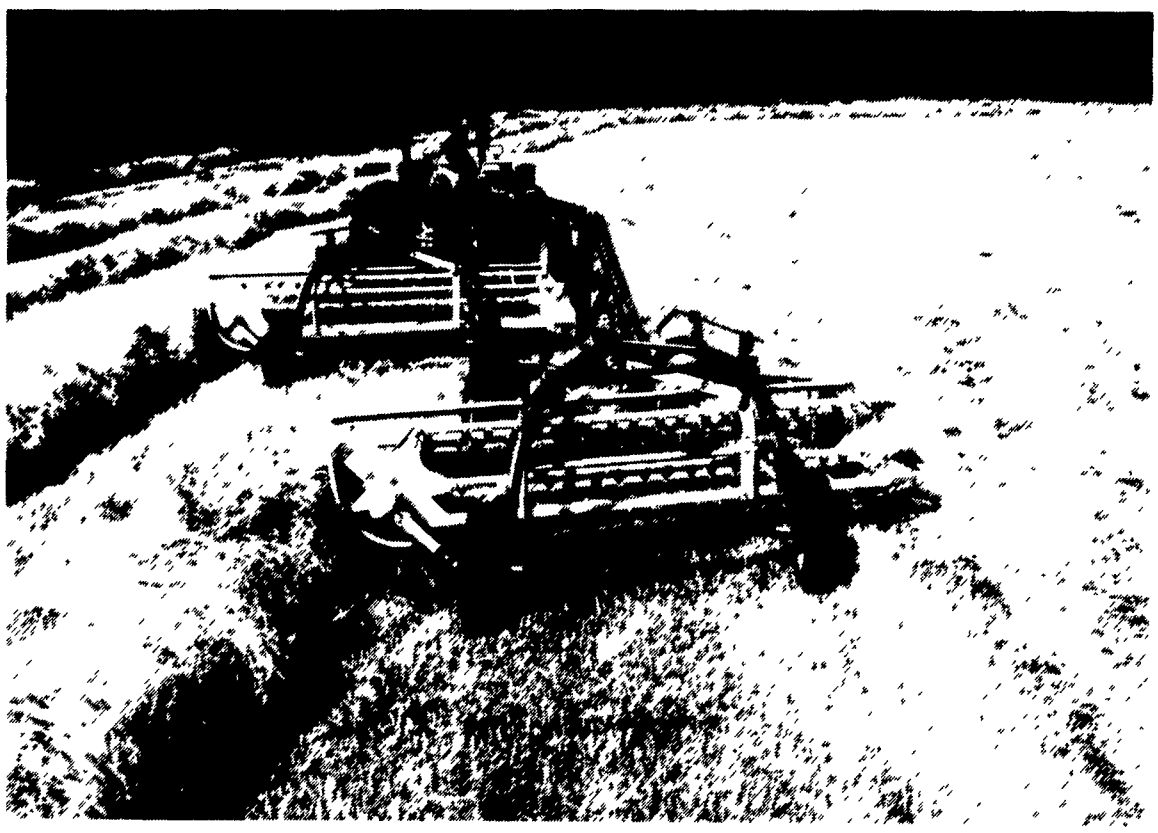
Gro-Mor's liquid fertilizer has been used on this farm with good success for many years. The company offers a selection of unique starter and foliar fertilizers designed to maximize plant yields in harmony with the environment. These products complement the soil's existing fertility level through a regular soil testing program conducted by the sales representatives.

Pivot-Tongue Hitch Handles Two Rakes

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — The new Model 252 pivot-tongue rake hitch from Ford New Holland lets operators transport and operate a pair of rakes without leaving the tractor seat.

The Model 252 uses on-the-go control that allows the operator to switch from raking two separate windrows to making one double windrow. And, when switching from field position to transport, both rakes can be centered behind the tractor for narrow passage through gates or over bridges.

The new pivot tongue rake hitch can be used with 8½ - or 9½ -foot rakes, right or left delivery or in combination, according to Product Manager Joe Weicksel. And there's no need for dolly wheels, since the rakes hook directly to the rake hitch.



Ford New Holland's new Model 252 pivot-tongue rake hitch features tractor remote hydraulics. This allows the operator to take a pair of single windrows, make one double windrow, or switch from field operation to transport position without leaving the tractor seat.

Bixler To Head Distribution Sales

BIGLERVILLE (Adams Co.) — GMV Inc., manufacturer of the HydraSpray and other self-propelled spraying equipment, has named Gail Bixler national sales manager.

In this newly created position, Bixler will work closely with national distributors and serve as a company representative at industry trade shows.

During her nine years in marketing and management positions at GVM, Bixler gained a thorough knowledge of the company's products, customers, and the distributor network she hopes to expand.

"One of my top priorities will be getting new distributors on board to help us better meet growing customer needs," said Bixler.

For more information on distributorships or GVM equipment, contact GVM Incorporated, 374 Heidlersburg Road, Biglerville, PA 17307.

Buffington Elected ASAE Fellow

SPOKANE, Wash. — Dennis E. Buffington, professor and head, agricultural and biological engineering department, Penn State University, has been elected a fellow of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers (ASAE). He was honored at the Society's international summer meeting recently at the Spokane Center.

Election to fellow is one of the highest distinctions an ASAE member can achieve. Elected annually by ASAE's board of directors, fellows are chosen for their unusual professional distinction and extraordinary qualifications.

A minimum of 20 years of active practice of engineering or teaching of engineering with demonstrated distinction in performance for at least five of those years is required for nomination.

Mather Named Award Recipient

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — The 1993 American Cyanamid Award was presented to Ian H. Mather, professor in the Department of Animal Sciences at University of Maryland, on June 15 during the awards ceremony of the 88th Annual Meeting of the American Dairy Science Association, held on the University of Maryland College Park campus.

Mather received his prestigious award for his valuable contributions in lactational physiology and molecular biology. Mather's major contribution to mammary gland biology during the past five years was the molecular characterization of butyrophilin, the major protein of the milk lipid globule membrane.

He and a colleague, Dr. Lucinda Jack, succeeded in cloning and analyzing a cDNA encoding butyrophilin from cow mammary gland. This accomplishment marks the first reported success with cloning and analysis of a cDNA encoding a milk lipid globule membrane protein from a production animal. These studies form the basis of current models for the mechanism of milk fat secretion.

Mather was born in Cheadle, Chesire, UK. He earned a bachelor's and a doctorate at the University of Wales. He held postoctorates in chemistry at the University of Kent from 1970-1972 and in animal science at Purdue University from 1973-1975. In 1975, he joined the faculty at the University of Maryland as assistant professor.

Best Values in New Equipment

We hear you.

From the beginning, Case International MAGNUM™ tractors were built with you in mind – they have everything you want in a tractor.

You asked for more power and fuel efficiency. You have it with an 8.3-liter diesel engine with 25% fewer parts for outstanding simplicity. Like the one found in our 7150 model – at 215 PTO horsepower, it's the most powerful row-crop tractor available.

Smoother shifting was something else you wanted. With 18-speed full powershift transmissions, MAGNUM tractors start in any gear and shift from forward to reverse without clutching. It's a rugged, cast iron transmission that you can depend on.

And, we made sure that operating a MAGNUM for long hours at a time was comfortable. That there was maximum visibility. That the cab was roomier, cleaner, and quieter.

We listened, we responded. See the Case International 7100 Series MAGNUM tractors. After all, you asked for them.

The May 1993 Dairy Herd Improvement information for Maryland dairy herds is listed by herd name, county association, number of cows in the herd and the average production per cow in the herd. To be included, the herd must have 10 cows averaging 65 pounds or more of 3.5 percent fat corrected milk per cow, per day. All herds reported are on official DHI or DHIR test.

Also listed are the top 10 herds in Maryland for the Brown Swiss, Guernseys, and Jerseys, and the top eight herds for Ayrshires.

Independent Farmers Need To Exploit Act

AMES, Iowa — In an era ot accelerating agricultural change and educational needs, a University of Wisconsin agricultural economist says independent farmers need to learn to fully exploit, in a modern context, the collective bargaining and group marketing benefits available to them through an old U.S. law — the Capper-Volstead Act.

In an address to nearly 50 Wisconsin National Farmers Organization (NFO) dairy staff members meeting in Eau Claire, Wis., Dr. Bob Cropp said that the NFO is uniquely positioned to lead, and implement, a broad-based educational program about the marketing and commodity pricing opportunities offered by the Capper-Volstead Act.

Cropp, a nationally recognized authority on cooperatives, is director of the Center for Cooperatives at the University of Wisconsin, Madison and an extension milk marketing specialist.

"Capper-Volstead was passed in 1922 to give farmers protection from the antitrust provisions of the Sherman Antitrust Act of 1899," Cropp said. "Capper-Volstead gives producers of agricultural and horticultural products the right to organize for purposes of marketing as long as those producers don't unduly enhance price.

"Three main provisions of the act lay out the ground rules," he said. "The group must mutually benefit all members. It must have one-member one-vote representation. And it must not do more business with non-members than with members."

Cropp emphasized that "today, farmers look at the concentration happening in agricultural production, processing and marketing and they think they're helpless. Nothing could be further from the truth. No court case since Capper-Volstead was passed has ever set a limit to farmers' control of their markets through such organized groups. And no co-op ever has been found guilty of unduly enhancing prices."

The economist reminded the NFO staff members that a few years ago the Government Accounting Office thought some ag cooperatives were getting too large. The ensuing study found no evidence of undue price enhancement.

"What that means is that farmers have a lot more opportunity to price their production than they think. The sky's the limit. Under the Marketing Agency In Common (MAIC) provisions of the Act, multiple cooperatives can work together to enhance commodity prices," he said. "Farmers don't realize what they can do together. They need to keep the heat on their cooperative leaders to work together."

He cited several instances where dairy cooperatives are beginning to work together to share production, inventory, and sales information. "Hopefully, this modest beginning will escalate into a full-fledged MAIC," he said.

Cropp pointed out that part of the problem is that "the school systems don't teach a lot about Capper-Volstead and copperative marketing. That's an educational need that I see as a great opportunity for the National Farmers Organization to satisfy."

He said that growing numbers of farmers feel poorly represented by their agricultural organizations. "The social climate is right for a group marketing message like the NFO has to tell to take hold and grow," he said.

Cropp stressed the importance of national or very large regional group marketing efforts, if those efforts are to be successful.

"We're very quickly getting into situations where there are only two or three large buyers operating nationwide," he said. "The only way for farmer group marketing programs to deal with such large buying entities is for the farmers to have equally national or regional capabilities. The days are gone when a group marketing program in a single county or even a state will work for long."

As an example of why regional programs aren't as effective as national programs, Cropp cited the dairy situation between the upper Midwest states and California. "It's hard to bargain for higher M&W milk prices when California has a state milk marketing order that allows cheaper milk to go into cheese. That's why national bargaining programs offer the most opportunity to influence prices," he said.

Departing from his discussion of the dairy industry, Cropp observed that the NFO has a "wide open marketing opportunity in dairy cull cows. It provides a service, adds value, and benefits farmers."

Another area of NFO opportunity, according to Cropp, is in hog marketing. "The structure of the hog business is changing so fast that group marketing programs like the NFO offers is one way family farmers can compete with the big corporate hog farms," he said. "Another NFO opportunity is with beef producers in forage-heavy areas where beef expansion should occur.

"I'd like to see NFO and the various co-ops begin discussions on joint marketing programs."

In closing, Cropp said, "I hope farmers close ranks and make group marketing programs work. It's the best kind of rural economic development."

Dairy Extension Gears Up For Manure Management

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — "Get involved now with your Coastal Zone Management people," said Lynn Shuyler, nonpoint source coordinator for the Chesapeake Bay program office (Region III) of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Shuyler spoke Tuesday, June 15, at a Dairy Manure Management symposium during the 88th annual meeting of the American Dairy Science Association, hosted June 13-16 by the University of Maryland.

Addressing his challenge to dairy extension professional workers in the 29 states or territories affected by the federal Coastal Zone Management program. Shuyler said that failure to get involved can mean loss of potential funding for state programs.

He noted that now is an opportune time to get involved because the Coastal Zone Management program is scheduled for reauthorization in 1995. Thus, changes can be suggested. Reauthorization of the federal Clean Water Act also is under way.

Most of the 29 affected states have Coastal Zone Management offices operated by two separate federal agencies — the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA).

It is important to make contacts with both offices, Shuyler said, and to be prepared for the fact that there is little coordination between the two.

He noted that "Coastal Zone Management is significant because 75 percent of the U.S. population lives within 50 miles of the Chesapeake Bay, the Great Lakes, or an ocean."

Delaware, Florida and Guam are the only states or territories located entirely within the Coastal Management Zone. But major portions of Maryland and most of the Atlantic and Pacific seaboard states also are involved, along with the Great Lakes and Gulf Coast areas.

Deanne D. Morse, extension dairy specialist from the University of California at Davis, followed up Shuyler's talk with a presentation on the National Model for Dairy Manure Management, developed by the national extension dairy manure management committee. Lester E. Lanyon, a research agronomist at Penn State, is a member of that committee. Lanyon also spoke at the ADSA meeting.

Morse noted that the manure management model is an outgrowth of the National Livestock, Poultry and Aquaculture Waste Management Workshop, held in 1991 in Kansas City, Mo.

One part of the model involves a nationwide computer base of information relating to dairy manure management. A Purdue Water Quality data base also is available through electronic mail.

And extension dairy specialists in three states — Wisconsin, Oregon, and Florida — are gearing up for pilot projects that may help establish manure management guidelines for the rest of the nation.

FAIR DAYS

New Jersey's annual celebration of organic food and farming/gardening — sponsored by the Northeast Organic Farming Association/New Jersey (NOFA/NJ) — will take place this year on September 18 at the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association Reserve in Pennington, N.J.

Trauger Groh, biodynamic farmer for 33 years and author of "Farms of Tomorrow: Community Supported Farms, Farm-Supported Communities," will talk about the important role of the consumer in shaping tomorrow's agriculture.

More than 45 seminars, demonstrations, and tours will run throughout the day. Classes for the farmer/gardener will cover such topics as an introduction to organic growing, edible landscaping, urban/container gardening, lawn care, permaculture, and growing cover crops. Demonstrations include beekeeping, composting, threshing grain, starting a wormbox, aquaculture methods, and using season extenders. Demonstrations in cooking for health will also be featured.

Organic garden doctors will be on hand to diagnose garden problems. Farm/garden supplies such as topsoil/potting soil, fertilizers, farm tools, composting equipment, and pest control products will be available for sale. Farm/garden supplies and equipment will be auctioned in the afternoon.

Fairgoers will be able to sample and buy locally grown organic foods and talk to New Jersey organic farmers. Among the many treats for the palate will be whole wheat bagels with fruit jams, whole wheat pizza, corn on the cob with herbed butter, fresh peach short cakes, vegetable ra touille with fennel and masala, and much more.

For those interested in a day in the country, farm craft demonstrations include basket making, dried flowers, handcrafted brooms, woodturning, pottery, log furniture, dyeing and spinning. Entertainment will include something for all ages: storytelling, live music, and a dance at the end of the day. Games for all ages include the beann bug toss, potato putt, kite making, salad bar collage, butter dance, cakewalk, junior farmer's relay, and the farmers decathalon.

NOFA/NJ is an organization devoted to organic farm certification in New Jersey, certifying food as "organic" in accordance with established standards. NOFA/NJ also develops education and marketing programs for organic farmers in the state.

Admission to the Fair is $4 for adults, $1 for children 3-15, and free under three. Volunteers for the fair are admitted free of charge. Volunteers are needed for mailings, baking, distributing fliers, making signs, and more.

For information, contact NOFA/NJ, 31 Titus Mill Road, Pennington, NJ, 08534, (609) 737-6848.

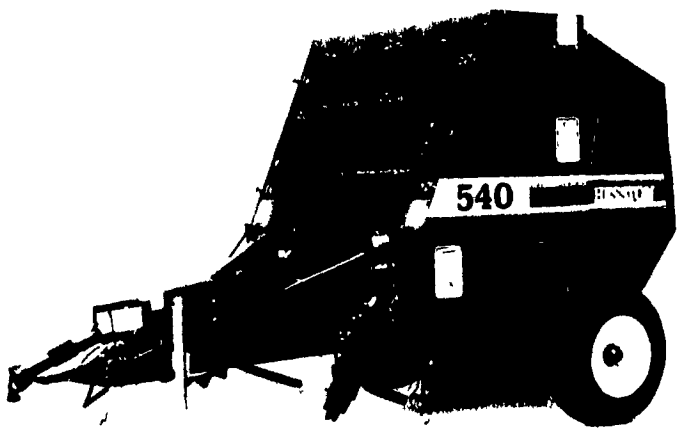
BIGGER BALES. WITHOUT A BIGGER TRACTOR.



When we designed the 540, we knew you wanted a higher capacity round baler with versatility and convenience We also knew you liked your tractor

Truth is, you can keep your present tractor Because with the 540 attached, all you need is a minimum 45 PTO hp tractor We built the 540 with all the features of a large baler but in a compact, low-profile design The direct-feed, open-throat design makes for fast bale starts and easy operation, and the variable chamber makes bales from 30" to 51"

You'll be able to handle a wide variety of crops with great maneuverability All with your current tractor

So stop in at D.W. Ogg and ask about our flexible financing plans for the 540. Or our wide selection of other equipment, all backed by the AGCO Warranty Program. Hesston. It'll change the way you look at hay fields forever.

THE CLAAS HARVESTER

MAXIMUM FEED QUALITY

To ensure maximum feed quality from maize it is vital to crack every kernel. Digestion of uncracked maize falls as the maize becomes drier. Independent trials have shown the Claas corn cracker to be close to 100% effective. From the cylinder the corn passes through the two large diameter rollers with saw tooth profiles The rollers run at different speeds to intensify the grinding effect and open up each kernel It is a fairly tough process so the latest generation of corn crackers take account of the wear involved on the rollers. Nothing can reduce the wear but Claas have cut the cost of repair by making the outer sleeve replaceable The shaft, drive pulley and bearings can all be reused which cuts down repair bills dramatically. Adjusting the distance between the two rollers is accomplished by turning two handles, easily accessible behind the cab. In no time at all the degree of cracking can be matched to the ripeness of the crop

RELIABILITY

The CLAAS Cutterbox is a unique balanced design using 2 knives in a V configuration. This forces the cutting action toward the center instead of the outside. This is the secret of their horsepower requirement and good quality of cut.

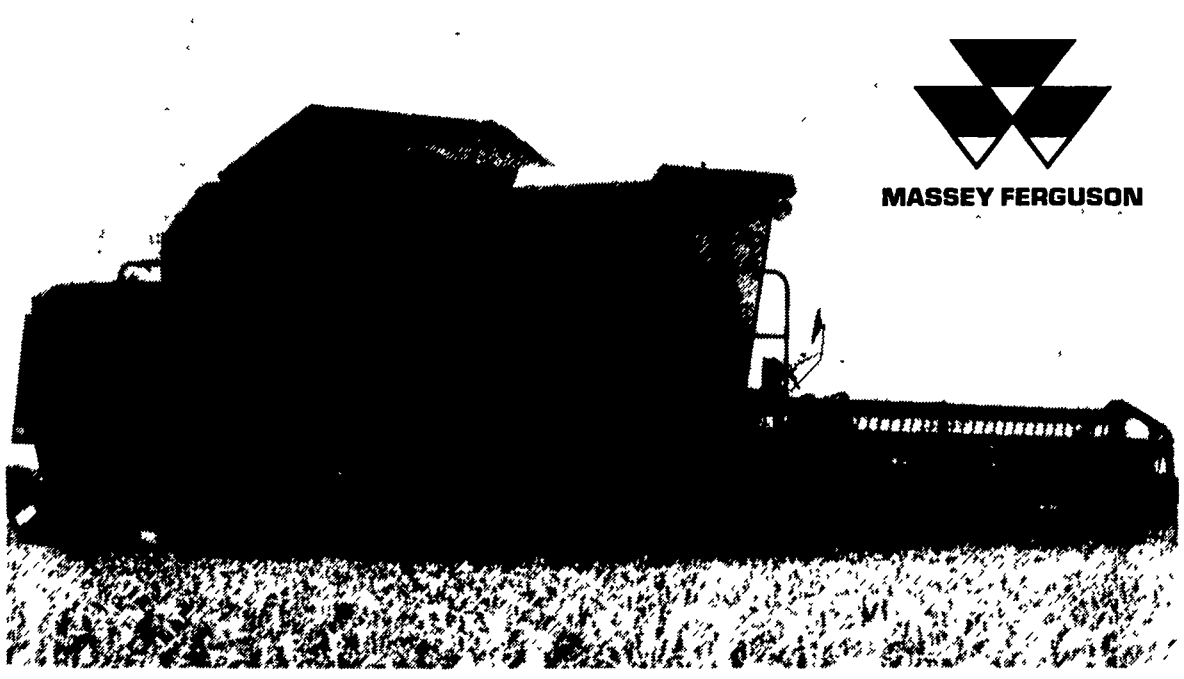
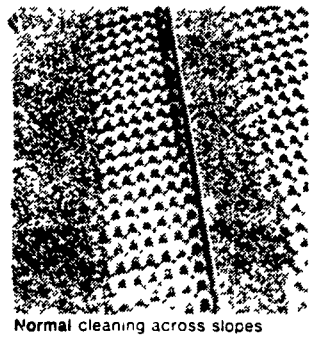
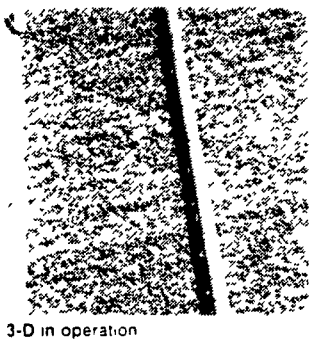
COMBINING SLOPES — THE MF 3-D CLEANING SYSTEM



MASSEY FERGUSON



Normal cleaning across slopes



3-D in operation

With the MF 3-D cleaning system, the crop is distributed evenly across the full width of the sieves, performance remains stable and output maintained.

The 3-D cleaning system provides dynamic slope compensation which means that the upper sieve moves sideways against the slope of the hill. The degree and direction of these movements depend on the inclination of the slope. Quick reaction and of course equal performance in any direction on slopes of up to 20%.

With the MF 3-D system you can operate at the same speed on slopes as on flat land. Daily performance can be maintained.

REMEMBER THE (3) LAWS OF HOOBER-RECONDITIONED AXIAL-FLOW COMBINES:

LAW #1- (14) Years Old is not equal to (≠) WORN OUT...

Because of the simple design of the CASE IH Axial Flow Combines, they can be reconditioned by HOOBER'S expert combine mechanics to like-new condition, so they provide 2nd and 3rd owners years of satisfactory and profitable operation.

LAW #2- (3,500) HOURS PLUS (+) HOOBER RECONDITIONING Equals (=) YEARS OF DEPENDABLE SERVICE...

(3,500) Hours on a conventional combine usually means they'll be too much trouble to be dependable. Axial-Flow combines with (3,500) hours, reconditioned by HOOBER'S, have proven to run for years when purchased by farmers in PA, MD, DE and NJ.

LAW #3- A CASE IH AXIAL-FLOW COMBINE SERVICED BY EXPERT HOOBER COMBINE MECHANICS EQUALS (=) LITTLE OR NO DOWNTIME DURING HARVEST...

When Hoober's expert combine mechanics service and repair AXIAL-FLOW combines in the off-season, they run dependably through the season.

L-455

COMPACT AND MANEUVERABLE

A low center of gravity and a compact design make the New Holland Model L-455 one maneuverable skid-steer loader. It turns smoothly in its own length and manuevers easily under six-foot overhangs and doorways.

The "L-455" is quick. Powered by a 28.5 horsepower, Kubota diesel engine, the "L-455" has a 1,200-pound SAE operating load. Faster cycle times speed up loading and unloading. Stop in and see how good a skid-steer loader can be.

450 SERIES END-WHEEL DRILLS

Enhanced performance and durability make these drills the benchmark in end-wheel drill design

Uncompromising performance and durability, make the 450 Drill one of today's most popular seeding tools.

Down-pressure is a key factor in obtaining more penetration for consistent seed depth with end-wheel drills. And the 450 Drill provides superior down-pressure—up to 124 pounds per opener—to help you slice through residue and tough soils for more accurate seeding depth.

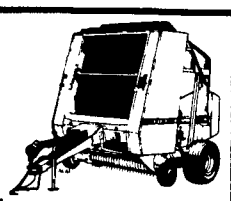
WHY ARE THESE THE FASTEST MOVING BALERS AROUND?



It's simple. You get uniform bale density throughout the bale — density you need for solid, stand-up-tall bales. Bales that hold their shape and, therefore, perserve hay quality.

If your bales stay round, they shed water better. And since John Deere bales won't flatten or "slouch", there is less bale surface touching the ground to wick-up moisture. Dramatically reducing spoilage.

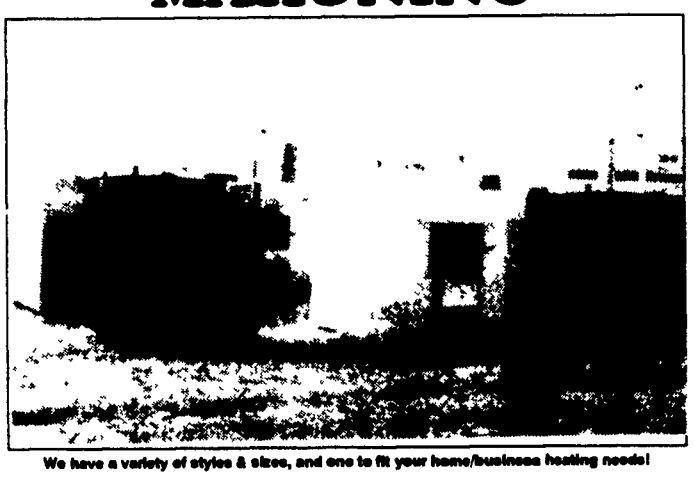
MAHONING



We have a variety of styles & sizes, and one to fit your home/business heating needs!

Get Comforting Heat and Efficiency.

The Mahoning Outdoor Multi-Fuel Furnaces provide thermostat controlled heat by economically burning wood, coal or fuel oil. The furnace is placed 25-100 feet outside the structure to be heated; connections between the furnace and building are buried underground. Wood or coal is the primary burning fuel lasting 8-12 hours in the furnace For convenient, automatic firing the separate oil burner combustion chamber can provide heat until wood or coal burning is desired Both Wood/Coal & the Fuel Oil burners are enclosed to heat the same water tank. The purpose of the firebox is to heat the water-filled tank surrounding the outside unit, this heated water is then circulated through underground pipes into your home A heating coil is installed inside your existing heat system. The thermostat controls the blower which picks the heat off the coils and delivers warm air through existing ducts and registers. There are safeties which eliminate the danger of over-pressurizing the system and automatic shutdown in case of a power failure. The Mahoning Outdoor Furnace can also be connected to an existing hydronic heating system, that operates at 180° F or less, using fin tube baseboard, cast iron radiators or hanging hydronic heaters. Only the thermostat and heating coils are installed inside your home, eliminating open fire dangers, smoke, dust and messy kindling wood boxes. Adjust the thermostat for the Mahoning Outdoor Furnace to your comfort setting and it automatically controls the water pump and blower to circulate heat to your home. You may set the thermostat for your existing heat system to back-up the Mahoning Outdoor Furnace when not in operation or in case the firebox is left to burn out. An Aquastat senses the temperature of the water in the outside unit and automatically adjusts the combustion rate to maintain the correct temperature (normally 180 degrees).

Hot Water too...!

A Mahoning Outdoor Furnace is a heat exchanger. By running a cold water line from your home to the outside unit, fresh household cold water can be heated and returned to the hot water plumbing in the house A temporing valve adjusts the hot water at the faucets to a range of 120° to 160°. This boiler system will adapt to any existing plumbing. Heat your pool & hot tub with energy generated by a Mahoning Outdoor Furnace!

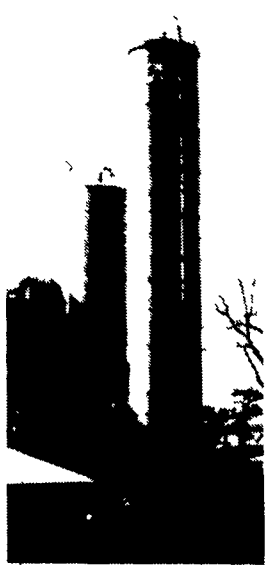
B.T.U.

"BUY THIS UNIT", or one like it to store your high-moisture shelled corn and save a lot of energy. With the cool spring and slow start for a lot of corn fields, this may be another harvest season coming up when the corn dries slowly...



12'x80' About 7,000 Bu. Cap. Shelled Corn, Poured Concrete, No Used Silos, No Rebuilt Silos, No Preowned Silos

In order to avoid hauling and drying costs, let us build a corn storage unit to preserve your valuable grain at 20%-30% moisture.

To keep your stored corn bright and yellow, you must protect it from oxygen and heat. Our 6" thick concrete walls reflect 38% of light beams, resulting in 780 times more heat-resisting ability than steel, and 25 times more insulating power than steel.

Our 6" thick walls have a very low leak potential compared to pre-fab silos of any kind, and a very low maintenance requirement.

BEFORE SPENDING A LOT OF MONEY FOR ENERGY (B.T.U.'s) TO DRY YOUR CORN, YOU WILL DO WELL TO CONSIDER THE MANY ADVANTAGES OF OUR POURED CONCRETE SILOS...

To unload your corn, we can install the simple auger system, the Laidig 43 unloader, or the Flying Dutchman. Lets discuss the options, and what is best for your situation.

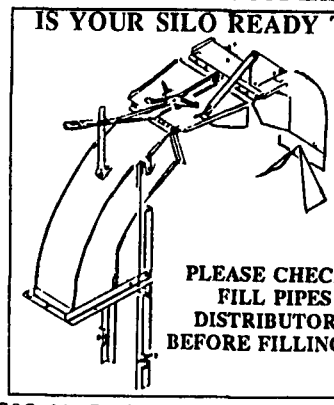
IS YOUR SILO READY TO BE FILLED WITH GRASS SILAGE?



PLEASE CHECK YOUR FILL PIPES AND DISTRIBUTORS NOW BEFORE FILLING SEASON

S&S Silo Service prepares the silo surface by using a 3,000 lb. pressure washer, thus making the silo moist, making a much better surface to bond shotcrete. After shotcreting, S&S always takes away any roughness by applying a steel trowel finish.

The excellent bonding of shotcrete to the silo will keep out moisture and prevent mold from growing on the side of the silo.
